Yanks Recapture Vital Hub From Nazis In Belgium

Former Heart Of German Bulge Is Retaken By Yanks

American Forces Move Into Houffalize As German Retreat From Town

MORE TOWNS TAKEN IN ALLIED DRIVE

(BULLETIN) — PARIS, Jan. 16.—(INS)—The heart of Nazi Field Marshal Karl Gerd Von Rundstedt's salient into Belgium and Luxembourg was torn out of German hands today when the Second Division of the United States First Army recaptured Houffalize on the Arlon-Liege road.

By THURSTON MACAULEY
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

PARIS, Jan. 16.—The Ardennes communications center of Houffalize, former heart of the crushed German Belgian-Luxembourg bulge, was virtually back in American hands today following the entry of American patrols into the town during the night.

Supreme headquarters said that Houffalize could be considered virtually captured.

A front dispatch said spearheading patrols found the communications hub had been deserted by the retreating enemy.

Headquarters reported that infantry and armor units following up the advance patrols in a drive down from the north were hampered in their progress by numerous damaged and buried out German tanks and vehicles.

Resistance slackens in the advance from north of Houffalize, the troops of the Yank First Army approached along the Grandenil-Houffalize road. Resistance at first was intense but then slackened when the Americans hammered to within a mile of the town.

The patrols entered without opposition. The main bodies of the First Army assault columns approached the town cautiously from two directions. Headquarters disclosed that one EVANSTON, Ill., Jan. 16.—(INS)—Commander William F. Eadie, 31, who gained national fame when he rescued Capt. Eddie V. Rickenbacker and companions from a raft in the Pacific, has died from "extreme multiple injuries" suffered in an accident in the Pacific, it was learned today.

Eadie's widow, Phyllis, and two small daughters, live in Marion, Mass.

Fear Death Toll In Chicago Fire Will Be Larger

Fourteen Known Dead As Fire Ruins Of Old Hotel Are Being Searched

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—(INS)—Fourteen persons were known dead, many of them servicemen, and others were trapped in a fire which gutted the Hotel General Clark near the heart of Chicago's business district early today.

With the five-story structure, an old hotel on the fringe of Chicago's Loop, still smoldering, 12 bodies had been removed from the ruins. Another victim, a woman, died in a leap from a third-floor window, and a man was alive when carried from the hotel died later at a hospital.

Fear More Victims
It was feared still more victims would be found later in the ruins of the hotel which was widely penetrated by servicemen on leave.

One of the bodies recovered was so badly burned it could not be identified even as to sex. The woman who leaped from a hotel window was taken to Hennrich hospital, where she was pronounced dead. Her name was not learned at once.

Six persons, including a sailor, suffered painful burns and were treated at the same hospital. Frank Carroll, the room clerk, who was slightly burned, said the hotel had 76 guests, mostly servicemen, and expressed fears a number may have been trapped with the flames spreading rapidly through the entire structure. A score of persons were unaccounted for.

Huge Air Raids On Nazi Targets

(International News Service)

LONDON, Jan. 16.—German oil refineries, tank plants and communication hubs were rocked with tons of explosives today when a force of 1,250 or more American heavy bombers and fighters sped over the Reich to deal another blow at Hitler's bomb-scarred cities.

More than 600 Fortresses and Liberators supported by 650 Mustangs and Thunderbolts fighters carried out the missions. Targets included an oil plant at Bohlen, 20 miles south of Leipzig; a Krupp plant, manufacturing Mark IV tanks, at Magesburg; marshalling yards at Dresden and Dessau, 30 miles north of Leipzig and unspecified objectives in western Germany.

Record Snow In Harrisburg Area

HARRISBURG, Jan. 16.—(INS)—The heaviest January snowfall on record virtually paralyzed traffic in the Harrisburg area today and the local U. S. weather bureau predicted a depth of 20 inches by evening.

Buses were stalled by 14-inch drifts in some sections of the city while schools were closed in the city and outlying districts. The weatherman estimated an inch of additional snow was coming down each hour and said by the end of the day the district would have "the heaviest 24-hour snowfall in history". The temperature was 28 degrees.

Gen. Yamashita May Decide To Make Stand In Northern Luzon Hills

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WITH GENERAL MACARTHUR'S FORCES ON LUZON, Jan. 16.—On the basis of front line information reaching this base today, it seems probable the Japs were endeavoring to execute a general withdrawal to the mountainous area north and east of the central Luzon plains.

Spurred by the knowledge that General Douglas MacArthur's tactical superiority can slash off his southern forces, General Tomoyuki Yamashita may have decided to evacuate a substantial part of his forces south and east of Manila and set up a delaying offensive stand in the rugged northern Luzon hills, probably on a line from Baguio to the east coast.

This possibly will open the way for MacArthur to strike straight through Manila since MacArthur's Lingayen landings choke off any possibility of the Japs getting either air or waterborne reinforcements.

While it is expected that the Nips will put up delaying actions at strategically located points along the Manila route, it is thought that the

YANKS DRIVING NEARER MANILA

By LEE VAN ATTA
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

GEN. MACARTHUR'S HEADQUARTERS ON LUZON, Jan. 16.—Twin columns of American Doughboys surged down the central Luzon plain on the road to Manila virtually unopposed today as Sixth Army spearheads neared the city of Tarlac, only 76 miles north of the Philippines capitol.

The American right flank, driving along the 6600-foot high western coastal range, liberated Camiling, largest inland city yet to fall to the Yanks. The thrust represented a gain of six miles in 24 hours.

Advance patrols in this sector, meantime, pushed on nearly to Tarlac City, capital of Tarlac province, from which a good highway leads straight to Manila.

At the same time, a parallel column in the American center swept past Catubman thrusting out spearheads towards Urdaneta in a drive aimed at cutting the vital highway leading from Manila to Baguio, 130 miles north of the capitol.

Some Resistance
It was in the rugged foothills surrounding Baguio, in the Rosario-Pozzobon sector, that the American advance met its only real opposition. Here the Japs were putting

President Calls Leaders For Parley On 'Work Or Fight'

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(INS)—President Roosevelt called a conference today of the high command and his military legislative leaders in a maneuver to line up maximum administration support for his manpower program, including a "work or fight" bill and a national service act.

The White House conference was called in the fact of the big guns of labor which have been going all out in opposition to the administration manpower policies as outlined by the President in his last message to Congress.

As a result of the opposition to the administration's recommendations it is understood that Mr. Roosevelt will send a special message to Congress within the next day or two making a detailed request for a national service act.

Eastern War Front Drive Against Nazis May Speed War's End

(Written Especially For International News Service)

Most important news of the war today is that which comes from the vast eastern front, that has just flamed into action with eight Russian armies hurled into steam roller offensives against a German defense line stretching in the neighborhood of 1,000 miles, from Memel on the Baltic to Budapest, far to the south in Central Europe.

This is setting in motion the eastward "jaw of the anti-Hitler vise," as Marshal Joseph Stalin called it when he appealed to the American-British allies for a second front in France and the low countries, the western jaw moving forward, squeezing down on Germany since D-day, but the clamp in the east has remained motionless since August. Now the Russian portion of the vise is also in action again.

Will Determine War's Course
It is impossible to exaggerate the importance of the developments of the next few days and weeks. They will show whether a combined squeeze applied with all the power of Marshal Stalin's red army in the east and Gen. Dwight D. Eisen-

Halsey's Fleet Still Smashing At China Coast

Jap-Held Bases Of Amoy, Swatow And Hong Kong Being Attacked

By RALPH B. JORDAN
(U.S. Staff Correspondent)

PEARL HARBOR, Jan. 16.—Admiral William F. Halsey's powerful third fleet forces were believed today continuing their smashing blows at the vital Jap-held bases of Amoy, Swatow and Hong Kong on the China coast.

The fact that a naval radio blackout was still in effect indicated that Halsey's shelling forces were blasting every enemy target in sight both on land and sea.

First Strike At China Coast
Hundreds of carrier bombers and fighters of the third fleet made their first strike at the strategic bastions of Amoy, Swatow and Hong Kong January 13, two days after they had exacted a tremendous toll of Jap ships off the French Indo-China coast near Saigon and left choice land targets there in flaming wreckage.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz in his Pacific fleet communique No. 234 disclosed that the sharp-eyed navy airmen had wrought far greater destruction in the Indo-China strike than previously reported. The revised figures showed that 41 Jap ships, instead of 25, were sunk; 112 enemy planes instead of 39, were destroyed and 50 other Jap planes were damaged.

The Jap ships sent to the bottom, including six transports aboard which 15,000 to 20,000 Jap soldiers

Inaugural To Be Brief

Ceremony At Washington On Saturday Will Last But Twenty Minutes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(INS)—President Roosevelt's fourth term inaugural ceremony Saturday will be one of the briefest and simplest presidential inaugurations in history. The White House, announcing the details, said the ceremony will last only 20 minutes, from beginning to end.

Presidential Secretary Stephen T. Early declared it is President Roosevelt's wish that the inaugural be as brief as possible because of the war.

Taking place on the south portico of the White House, the ceremony will begin at noon. The Marine Band will play "Hail to the Chief," opening the ceremony, and President Roosevelt will come out to the center of the portico. Prayer will then be said by the Right Reverend August Dun.

Vice President-Elect Harry S. Truman will then take his place at the speakers stand and will be administered the oath of office by retiring Vice President Henry Wallace.

President Roosevelt will then take his place at the speaker's stand and will be administered the oath by the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court. The president's inaugural address, which will last five minutes or less, will follow.

Then a benediction will be said by the Right Reverend John A. Ryan. The playing of the National Anthem will conclude the ceremony, which will be broadcast by short wave to American troops abroad.

The front reports stressed the speed and power of Konev's offensive which is crashing through the strongest Nazi defenses like a steamroller.

The battle areas were said to be heaped with captured German materiel and abandoned transport.

The First Ukrainian forces battled forward across a 40-mile front in the direction of Krakow in a drive apparently aimed at engulfing the town of Wodzislaw, 55 miles from Silesia.

The Germans meanwhile reported still another Soviet offensive was launched with a Russian attack through the northwestern Carpathians east of Jaslo.

A dispatch to the Soviet army newspaper Red Star said that Marshal Konev's sweeping offensive toward the German border was progressing at a great pace.

The dispatch added that "continuous German counter-attacks" were being smashed by the Red army in its stride.

MOSCOW, Jan. 16.—Soviet Russia's power-driving First Ukrainian army, heading for German Silesia from the Kielce region, was reported in front dispatches today to have smashed forward to within less than 50 miles of the Reich.

Progress was scored all along the flaming winter offensive front of more than 600 miles.

After storming the bastion of Kielce, the First Ukrainian forces under command of Marshal Ivan S. Konev, scored a deep lunge toward the town of Wodzislaw, points reportedly less than 20 miles away.

Von Rundstedt May Land Back Where He Started

By JOHN A. REICHMANN
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Surprisingly low American casualty figures for the first three weeks of the Ardennes battle established today that Marshal Karl Von Rundstedt suffered a comparatively greater loss of men and material in the surprise December push than he inflicted.

Secretary of War Stimson reported that preliminary figures for the Ardennes battle from December 15 to January 7, a period of greatest fury, was only 40,000 killed, wounded and missing, against Von Rundstedt's loss of 40,000 prisoners and an estimated 50,000 killed and wounded.

Nazi Losses Higher

Thus the Nazi strategist lost at a ratio of more than two-to-one, while his retreat is piling up losses of equipment and under conditions of his withdrawal from the bulge, may be forced right back to the Siegfried line, whence he started. Stimson's figures showed that an estimated 18,000 Americans were missing, the majority of them presumably prisoners of war. By inference, fatalities were set at something below 4,000. Military experts had guessed losses of 75,000 Americans for the operation, and these high figures may have caused Stimson to decide to make the figures public now instead of waiting until his Thursday news conference.

His announcement was made along with the total of all losses on the Western Front for the same period. All four armies, the First, Third, Seventh and Ninth, including those engaged in the Ardennes, totaled 4,028 killed, 27,645 wounded and 20,866 missing. Deducting these from losses in the Ardennes offensive would leave 9,728 killed and wounded and 2,866 missing for the remaining American held fronts.

Paper is now being made of glass. This will be tough on mystery story readers—their'll be able to see the solution before they are half way through the first page.

HALSEY'S FLEET STILL SMASHING AT CHINA COAST

were believed to have been crowded, totaled 127,000 tons. The Jap ships damaged totaled 70,000 tons. Our losses in the crushing Indo-China attacks were 16 planes, shot down in combat.

(Tokyo radio claimed today that Japanese planes shot down 10 and damaged three of the American carrier planes which attacked Amoy, Swatow and Hong Kong.)

Jap Reinforcements Hit

At the same time that he announced the revised recapitulation of enemy losses off the Indo-China coast, Admiral Nimitz announced that after the Indo-China strike Halsey swung his slugging forces northward to pummel "targets in Formosa and along the China coast, including Amoy, Swatow and Hong Kong."

He said that "details of these attacks are not now available."

Superimposed on the heavy Jap ship and plane losses off Indo-China was severe damage inflicted on ground installations.

By striking hard and fast at enemy convoys off Indo-China, Admiral Halsey sent to the bottom Jap reinforcements which almost certainly were destined for Luzon where Gen. Douglas MacArthur's forces are driving toward Manila.

Halsey's aim also blasted the enemy ships before they even got started toward the Philippines.

Soldier And Girl Face Murder Charge

LONDON, Jan. 16.—(INS)—Pleas of not guilty were entered today by an American paratrooper and his young English companion, a London music hall strip-tease dancer, at the start of their joint trial in historic old Bailey Court on a charge of murdering George "Cleft Chin" Heath, London taxi cab driver. The fragile looking girl defendant, Elizabeth Marina Jones, entered the prisoners dock first. The American, 22-year-old Karl Gustav Hulden, of Boston, Mass., took his place to the left of her.

The trial is unique in that it is the first time an American has appeared in a British court since the start of the war on a charge where conviction could result in hanging.

RUSSANS SPEED HUGE ADVANCE ON GERMAN SILESIA

as they rolled toward Silesia told their captors they had been ordered to "fight to the last man" as the "fatherland was endangered."

(The German Transsiberian news agency reported that the bitter street fighting was in progress in Schlossberg, 10 miles inside the northern border of East Prussia. Earlier German reports said the Russians in East Prussia were attempting a drive against Koenigsberg, capital of East Prussia.)

(The Nazi DNB agency reported that bitter street fighting was raging in the city of Schlossberg, with Russian thrusts edging in at the heart of East Prussia.)

Gigantic Battle

"On the third day of the Soviet offensive, DNB said, the battle, of gigantic proportions such as rarely have been seen even on the eastern front, has been joined deep in German positions."

In the fighting beyond Wodzislaw, the Soviets were only slightly more than 50 miles from the Reich town of Buethen in the easternmost tip of the Silesian iron, coal and arms producing area.

(German sources said the Red army offensive was driving eastward on three fronts with a total of 75 divisions, 39 of which were engaged south of Warsaw, while 21 other Red army divisions were along the Narew river, aiming for Danzig. The third offensive, Berlin said, was in East Prussia where 15 infantry divisions and strong tank forces are driving toward the capital city of Koenigsberg.)

In Krakow Sector

Soviet advances south of Warsaw were made against fierce German resistance as the Nazis counter-attacked repeatedly but finally were driven back, an official Soviet communique disclosed today.

Marshal Konev's tank and infantry columns struck powerful blows at Dzialyze, only 27 miles from the great Nazi-held Polish city of Krakow and wrested possession of the town from the Wehrmacht.

In their attempted defenses of Kielce, which they had been ordered to hold, the Germans lost more than 1,600 men.

(German sources said the Russians had thrown 1,500 tanks into the drive on eastern Silesia.)

Russian forces fighting in eastern Czechoslovakia advanced for more than six miles in the region north-west of liberated Lucence and captured the important highway junction of Melchec. More than 400 Nazis were captured as the offensive rolled toward Vienna.

Jonathan Wainwright, hero of Corregidor, gained time to without hindrance to get a first-hand glimpse at the Jap strategy which is aimed at drawing the American offensive to the east and slowing up the drive on Manila."

It was evident that all enemy forces to the south of the American drive were cut off from reinforcements and supplies.

Like the ground forces, the American air arm has found virtually no opposition and at least temporarily completely dominates the skies. No Jap plane has been sighted in the Lingayen area for three days.

Clearing the way for the American advance, Yank planes of all categories continued to blast enemy installations and supply lines all down the Luzon plain from Tarlac to airfields south of Manila. Bombers hit Clark airfield and sidetracks in the Batangas and Manila areas. Large fires were started among installations at Tarlac. Other bombers and fighters struck enemy held highways to the south, disrupting Jap attempts to move reinforcements up from the Manila area in their effort to halt the driving Yanks.

PREVENTS SERIOUS FIRE

GROVE CITY, Jan. 16.—Fire damage at the George Junior Republic was averted by prompt action of Mrs. Johnson, house mother at The Inn, boys' dormitory, when she discovered a blaze beside the chimney. With the help of two citizens and her husband, Mrs. Johnson had the flames under control in a few minutes. Damage was estimated at $300. The dormitory houses 50 boys, none of whom were in the building when the flames were discovered.

hower's American-British forces in the west has the power to break and crush quickly the defensive strength of the Nazi lines of fortifications in depth, thus bringing the war to a quick end, or whether it must become a long and bitter battle of attrition fought until complete German collapse.

Nobody knows the answer to the problem of German strength. There have always been wide assortments of vastly different reports coming out of Germany.

Reports Differ

One set of these reports represented the Nazis as on their last legs. Reports on the other extreme depicted German fighting strength as very little diminished from its peak.

Which set of these widely differing reports represented the truth, it was impossible to tell. But soon now we should have a decisive answer. If the Nazi armies do not possess very great strength indeed and if their defensive walls, east and west, are not the most powerful structures of the land the world has ever seen, the end of Germany must come soon.

Nearly 4,000,000 In Drive

According to German and neutral estimates, approximately 250 red army divisions, or in the neighborhood of 3,750,000 Russian soldiers, are taking part in a dozen co-ordinated offensives from Budapest to Menel. Meantime on the western front, Gen. Eisenhower's armies, which the Germans estimate at about 1,500,000 men, press forward on a 450-mile front from Holland to Switzerland.

Neutral and allied estimates put present German strength at about 140 divisions on the east and in the neighborhood of half that number on the western front, adding up to a total of about 3,000,000 men.

But if morale or equipment are deficient the first crack that develops in either front may see the whole Nazi military machine go to pieces like an ice-cream in the spring. The next few weeks will tell the tale about this.

bulk of Yamashita's ground troops will take the hills and try to hold the semblance of a line there.

The end of the Luzon campaign's first week today finds the Yanks still advancing to the southeast as rapidly as they can walk, occasionally pausing to deploy and wipe out Jap parties of anywhere between 25 and 900 men, and then pushing on again. Only at Pozorrubio and in the hills northeast of San Fabian is substantial Jap resistance reported.

Only Handicap

The only factor which may slow American progress is river crossings where many bridges have been either totally destroyed or rendered unserviceable. This probably can be overcome in part by the use of alligators, ducks and amphibious tractors.

A LONG TIME

It takes a great many years to build up an establishment, to give real service to the public. To do so, one must acquire equipment, establishments and experience. After this is done, it makes it possible to give service, second to none, to the public, and at a reasonable price.

We have acquired all of these things, as we are on our forty-seventh year in business in Lawrence County. Even our personnel have been with us much longer than a great many firms have been in business.

EDUCATIONAL DEPT. SURVEY PROGRAM

Home and Educational Department members will have charge of the meeting sponsored by Woman's club, to be held Thursday, January 18 at 8 o'clock, in the Senior High school, it was announced today.

Knowing fathers and mothers of school children will be anxious to hear the results of a recent educational survey made of city schools, the department feels fortunate in presenting as speaker on this date, Dr. J. Guy Fowkes who will discuss the survey, and conduct an open forum.

The meeting, free of charge, is open to the public.

DAUGHTERS OF 1812 MEETING SATURDAY

Initial meeting of the 1945 season for Daughters of 1812 will be held Saturday afternoon in the home of Mrs. W. H. Linkart, Meyer avenue, at 2 o'clock.

Program for this date will be in charge of Mrs. Fred Donaldson, chairman.

True Blue Class Meets

True Blue class of the Third U. P. church met Monday evening at the home of Mrs. George Glass, 819 Linton street. Mrs. Evelyn Dickson acted as co-hostess with Mrs. Glass. During the evening the class divided into three groups and each put together a jigsaw puzzle. No. 2 group completed its puzzle in the shortest time.

Mrs. Mary Harper and Mrs. Marian Haley will be hostesses for the next meeting.

Emeline Rose Rebekahs

Emeline Rose Rebekah lodge members will meet in regular session Wednesday evening in the I.O.O.F. hall at 7:45 o'clock. At this time they will celebrate the birthday of Thomas Wilsey, founder of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows, will be appropriately observed.

GAITHER SEAL NEWS MADE KNOWN TODAY

Returning from their wedding trip, Dr. and Mrs. G. Earl Seal of 623 East Washington street, make known their marriage which took place on Saturday afternoon, January 6, 1945.

Mrs. Margaret Gaither of 4519 Avondale street, Bethesda, Md., was united in marriage to Dr. Seal in the Chevy Chase Methodist church, with Rev. Howard McGrath of New York, brother-in-law of the bride, officiating. He is superintendent of Methodist church in the Poughkeepsie district. Dr. Clifford Homer Richmond of the Chevy Chase church assisted.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bryant were the couple's only attendants.

Dr. and Mrs. Seal held an informal reception for members of the family and a few friends in the church after the ceremony. Later a wedding dinner and a reception was held at the bride's home on Avondale street.

Mrs. Seal was a school teacher in Montgomery county, Md., for a number of years, and was formerly vice principal of Clara Barton school.

MRS. JOHN PHILLIPS FAREWELL HONOREE

Honoring Mrs. John Phillips (Ruth Boyle) who left this morning for Los Angeles, Calif., to join her husband, Pfc. John Phillips, Mrs. Leo Whalen entertained informally in her home on Ray street at a surprise farewell family dinner party on Monday night.

A full course menu was served at an early hour at an attractively arranged table. Following the hostess, who later departed to meet with her bridge club, was presented with a number of lovely going-away gifts by those sharing the dinner feast.

Mrs. Phillips will remain in California with her husband at present stationed at an air field in Palm Springs, pending further government orders.

Catherine Von Bora Society

Catherine Von Bora Missionary society of St. John's Lutheran church held its January meeting Monday evening at a tearoom on Highland avenue.

Miss Virginia Kerber and Miss Lena Richards were hostesses. Mrs. Benjamin Agnew was leader of the devotional services on the topic, "The Postwar Church in Europe". As a program feature, Miss Lena Richards played a number of piano solos.

After the meeting a delicious lunch was served. Next meeting will be February 13.

LOCKARD-DAVIS WEDDING EVENT

Another impressive ceremony marked by simplicity was that performed in the parsonage of Croton Methodist church Friday evening, January 12, at 7 o'clock, when Evelyn, only child of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Lockard, 1101 Highland avenue, became the bride of Lieutenant William D. Nelson, only son of Mrs. Flora Davis, 916 Croton avenue.

The Rev. Owen W. Shields, pastor, officiated with the single ring in the presence of a gathering of relatives and friends of the couple, with Mrs. Jeanne Tattersall, contributing the nuptial music. Included in the program were "Always", "I Love You Truly" and the "Wedding March" from Lohengrin. Mendelssohn's Wedding Chorus was responded as the recessional.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a chic suit of "poudre" blue winter wool, with matching accessories and a shoulder corsage of red rose buds. Mrs. Grogie McKindree, as matron of honor, wore a black street length dress edged in sequins. Her shoulder corsage consisted of gardenia and yellow rose buds.

Calvin Westcott, uncle of the bridegroom, served as best man. An informal reception followed at the home of the bridegroom's mother, for friends and relatives. Lieut. and Mrs. Nelson dispensing with a wedding trip for the present, will leave today for Miami Beach, Florida, where he will report for reassignment.

Both Lieut. and Mrs. Nelson are graduates of New Castle Senior High school. She was formerly affiliated with General Motors in Cleveland, Ohio, and he, having completed 50 missions overseas as a navigator with the U. S. Air Forces, is back in the states on leave.

LOCAL COUPLE WED IN VIRGINIA CAMP

Miss Margaret Stinard, daughter of Mrs. Genevieve Stinard of Pine street, and Ernest Adamo, son of Fred Adamo of Cedar street, were married with nuptial high mass celebrated at 11 o'clock Friday morning, January 12, in the Chapel in the Woods at Camp Patrick Henry, Virginia. The chaplain, Rev. Fr. Joseph Burnore, officiated at the single ring ceremony.

The couple were attended by WAC Pvt. Norma Gilman, and Cpl. Thad R. Kurek, both of Camp Patrick Henry. The bride and groom are both graduates of New Castle High school, class of June, 41. Mrs. Adamo is also a 1944 graduate of the New Castle hospital school of nursing, while her husband has been in the service two years.

On her return from Camp Patrick Henry, Mrs. Adamo will continue with her work at the New Castle hospital.

MRS. C. G. MARTIN EVENTS '06 HOSTESS

Monday afternoon Current Events of '06 members gathered in the home of Mrs. C. G. Martin, 226 North Crawford avenue, for their regular monthly session. "New Years Resolutions" were given in response to roll call.

Discussion of current topics featured the meeting.

February 12 the membership will be guests of Mrs. George McClelland, 409 Pine street.

LEGION AUXILIARY PLAN FUTURE EVENTS

American Legion Auxiliary to Perry S. Gaston Post, No. 345, met in the Legion Home Monday evening, January 15, with Mrs. Wade Daugherty, president, in charge.

Reports were given and attention centered on the change made in the Four County Council meeting originally slated for January 25. It will be held instead, on February 22, at Grove City.

Plans were made for their annual National Defense Day dinner, to be held on February 19 in the Legion Home. Mrs. Frank Wilkinson heads the committee on arrangements with Mrs. Ida M. Suber in charge of the dining room. Program chairman will be Mrs. A. Wilkins.

A social period ensued with the evening's prize falling to Mrs. John Brettle. In closing, lunch was served by a committee of four: Mrs. Stuart Cope, Mrs. William Brooks, Mrs. M. Nicholson and Mrs. Steven McBride.

EDUCATIONAL GROUP MEETING IN CHURCH

St. Mary's Educational Association held their January meeting in the church hall on the fourteenth, at 2:30 o'clock. Rev. Fr. Francis McCarter offered prayer at the opening and closing.

Gratifying reports of various committees were contributed, and plans were completed for a St. Valentine party to be held on Saturday, February 10, in the Catholic Center. A large attendance is being prepared for on this occasion.

For entertainment, educational moving pictures were shown on "Trees" by C. M. England of the Pennsylvania Power Company.

Next regular meeting is scheduled for Sunday, February 11, at the same hour and place.

As Russia Resumes Eastern Drive

Official announcement by Premier Stalin that the Red Army has opened its long-awaited winter drive in south-central Poland ends a good deal of argument about Russia's plan and should have two major effects:

It should speed up the Allied drive for victory over Germany by gripping the common enemy in the tightening jaws of a gigantic east-west vise.

It should eliminate, in measurable degree, the political strains that have been increasing of late among Russia, Britain and the United States.

There seems to be no question about the magnitude and striking power of the new Red Army offensive, heralded by the Germans as "the greatest of all time." It involves 250 Russian divisions, or about 2,500,000 men, as the Nazis say. It is surely a vast operation.

There are several reasons, however, why the Americans, the British and the French should not permit their enthusiasm over the developing Russian drive toward Germany from the east to cloud their vision or distort their judgment as to the realities of the war.

First, the Red army's new push, however successful, does not modify in the slightest the imperative necessity of continued attack from the west. The German counter-attack in Belgium, now being overcome, was costly for the western Allies, who now have the tough job of getting their forward movement started again.

Second, it is by no means unlikely that the Russians, spearheading through Poland, will come up against difficult political as well as military problems. The Polish underground, which has valiantly resisted the Germans for almost six years, has in the past been loyal to the Polish government-in-exile in London. But there has now been set up a Lublin regime, which Moscow has recognized as the provisional government of Poland. Both America and Britain still recognize only the London group.

A question that now looms is whether the Soviet Union's influential part in the establishment of the Lublin regime will aid or hamper the Red army in attempting to crash through Poland. If in this situation there are dangerous political implications, they should be disposed of without fail by the conferees at the coming Roosevelt-Churchill-Stalin meeting.

Third point for watchful consideration is that, an Allied breach having presumably been avoided by the resumption of Stalin's drive toward Germany, the Nazis are almost sure to seek some new method of breaking up the fighting solidarity of the United Nations.

Fourth connection it is altogether possible that a tactic of the German high command will be to endeavor to create friction over the relative accomplishments of the Anglo-Americans and their Russian associates. All of the Allies should be resolved now against jealousy regarding each other's progress.

We have found it necessary at times to disagree vigorously with the outgivings of Pravda, Community party organ in Moscow. But Pravda is right when, in commenting upon the new Red army drive as a victory, it warns that "the enemy has not been defeated yet."

That is the plain and simple fact that should guide each of the Allied countries in its military and political thinking and planning. The war is not yet won. United efforts by the Russians on their side and by the western Allies on theirs are mandatory if the earliest possible victory is to be attained.—Philadelphia Inquirer.

Burma Progress

The big war news continues to come from the Philippines and the Western Front, but recent news of British progress in Burma has implications that are decidedly important in shaping up victory over Japan.

The port of Akyab, which the British occupied after the Japs withdrew under heavy pressure, is a key spot on the Indian ocean coast line. The British tried in vain to take it last year at a considerable cost.

Mandalay, an important communications point, appears to be untenable to the Japanese, and the great port of Rangoon is vulnerable to British amphibious attack. In the north of Burma, Chinese and Americans have cleared the last of the new Ledo highway of the enemy. As soon as road repairs have been completed, American trucks will be pouring supplies into China, supplementing those already going by air "over the hump." When the British regain Rangoon and Mandalay, a river and railroad route will be restored and China will be vastly strengthened in its resistance to the invader.

Apparently the Japs have been forced to withdraw air and infantry strength from Burma to meet the American attack in the Philippines. They list the MacArthur offensive as their greatest menace. But in the meantime the fighting in Burma is no picnic for them. If Burma is cleared of the enemy before the monsoon rains begin in the spring, the Japs will have received a costly blow.

Shipping Precedent

Great Lakes shipping history was made the other day when three new cargo vessels, the first of their size to move through the Soo locks in January, began a voyage from Lake Superior to the Gulf of Mexico.

The precedent was set with the help of a fleet of powerful icebreakers headed by the new $10,000,000 Mackinaw. The icebreakers were able to clear a path for the cargo vessels through large fields of ice a foot thick or more. Interested spectators during the operation were British shipping experts and technicians, who plan to adopt similar tactics in the British Isles.

The extended use of effective icebreakers can be of great value in lengthening the lakes navigation season. Heretofore navigation has dwindled to practically nothing in December and stayed that way until May. The big icebreakers can change all that where important cargoes are concerned. They cost a lot of money, but they can be well worth it to the cause of waterborne traffic on the nation's inland seas.

The "Stop Rundstedt" movement is meeting with ever-increasing success.

News items says eastern barber shaved a man in 21 seconds, but it didn't say flat.

London has a murder which newspaper accounts compare to a Chicago gang killing. Under the U. S. lend-leases, nothing is reserved.

General MacArthur's activities in the Philippines are an act of desperation, says General Homma, who forgot to add that the Japs are on the desperate side.

Yes, it was hard to travel in colonial days when there were only a few mud roads and they had to be negotiated with horses and carriages. But travel isn't so easy today either.

Norway Suffers Under Nazi Power

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—For all the Allied world, the postponement of victory in Europe has been a crushing blow.

But if we feel it here in America, especially the prolongation of the tension which is the state of mind of millions with sons and fathers and husbands in the fighting, consider the plight of one small country that for nearly five years has known no success from suffering.

Virtually outside the orbit of the Allied victories of 1944, Norway is almost a forgotten country. Yet Norway was among the first of the western democracies to come under the tyranny of the Nazis. Not long ago, the Norwegian government-in-exile asked the Allies to invade Norway, and that appeal had in it a note of desperation.

When I was in Sweden a year and a half ago, Norwegians who came out of their country via the underground took a grave view of what another winter of Nazi occupation would do. The Norwegian people had not starved, but they were close to the line.

Hoped For Liberation

Inside Norway, they were pinning their hope on liberation in the spring of 1944. The theory—and it certainly was not confined to Norway—was that Germany could not last through another winter. Lacking any real hope, the Norwegians lived on rumors of hope which went in waves via the underground.

Now they are enduring still another winter of Nazi occupation. The reluctant sun sheds a thin light for a little while in the middle of the day. The rest is darkness and raw, numbing cold knifing into bodies long in want of sustaining foods.

Recent reports coming out of Norway show that the occupation has become more savage and brutal during the past six months. While there was even a slim chance of a negotiated peace which would not sacrifice everything, the Nazi troops maintained some moderation. They even resisted the worst excesses of the Gestapo.

Today there are no restraints. The arrogance of victory has been replaced by the hatred and frustration of defeat.

Latest estimates put about 200,000 Germans in Norway. The army of occupation is comprised of more than 100,000 troops—about 10 or 11 divisions of about 10,000 each. For the most part, these are young boys or middle-aged men. The German civilian organization, the Gestapo, and the Red, slave labor battalions under the German flag, make up the rest. And many Nazis have their wives with them.

No Interest In Population

The invaders live almost entirely off the country. For a time, the Germans sent in some food. That has now stopped. They have said they have no interest in what happens to the Norwegian population. Obviously, this is part of the calculated policy to weaken all peoples as much as possible.

In the Arctic north, the Russians have driven the Nazis out of several hundred square miles of Norwegian territory. As the Russians came in, the Germans burned the villages, turning families out of their little wooden houses to almost certain death in the Arctic winter. The saga of the wanderings of the dispossessed women and children of Kirkenes and the smaller communities is one more chapter in the record of Nazi ruthlessness.

According to reports out of Norway, relations with the invading Russians have been good. Administration of civil affairs has been left to Norwegians. But the Russians can do little to alleviate the suffering, since they have only their own rations.

In fact, recent dispatches from London reveal that Russia has requested her western allies to relieve her even of the task of garrisoning the territory her armies have liberated. But the United States and Britain had to refuse on the grounds that, because of the demands of the Western Front, they could not yet spare the necessary troops and supplies.

The Norwegians are a strong, proud people. But hunger is a cruel despot. When total liberation of Norway finally comes, the machinery of relief and reconstruction must be ready to move immediately. There must be no delay.

MUSEUM LIFE

I like the art museum's quiet. And calm serene. Shut from the market's busy riot. Where trade is keen.

I like the pictures of the sainted Angel and monk. Which silent gifted Dutchmen painted.

Sober or drunk.

Canvas and pigment hold securely What life lets go.

There maids demure live on demurely.

Young stays the beau. There, just as yesterday, tomorrow. Will all appear.

Nor shame, nor pain, nor blinding source. Can start a tear.

The old will seem no moment older An age away.

Despite the fact that winds turn colder. Summer will stay.

Will keep the rapture of some minute.

Swellhead: An affliction that hits a popular personality just before they are dropped in the discard.

Reformer: A guy who wants to give Eve back her apple.

Money talks but credit uses the sign language.

You can't rise with the lark if you have been on one the night before.

"What under the sun," asks the father, "can you find wrong with Clarence Smith. He's not bad looking, comes from a good family, his mother is a fine, Christian woman, and his father is the most influential business man in town."

But he has habits which I detest," protested the daughter. "When I marry, I want a husband who does not smoke, chew, drink, swear, belong to clubs, play cards, stay out late or go dancing and night-clubbing."

The father looked sorrowfully at his daughter for a moment or two, and then said: "My child, you are put a stranger here. Heaven is your home."

In the beginning, talking was developed as a result of thinking; now it is used as a substitute.

When a bride and groom at the last minute have a change of heart and the bride's parents send out cancellations of the wedding invitations because of some emotional or temperamental differences between the couple, all wedding gifts should be returned. But your case is different, since you desire to and hope to marry as soon as circumstances permit.

I don't think the donors of your gifts would want them returned even if your wedding will not take place for years. If and when your fiancé comes home on his next leave, don't take time for a large, formal wedding. Marry before he is suddenly shipped out again.

Question: My daughter-in-law does not call me "Mother". She simply begins talking without any salutation. How should I sign cards sent to her?

Answer: Sign them: "Mother" adding your last name. For instance: "Mother Jones"—a very popular address for one's mother-in-law. Ask her to call you "Mother".

Budget Message Is Hard To Reconcile

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—There ARE a number of queer things about that huge budget message submitted by the President for the fiscal years 1945-1946. The document is so voluminous and complicated that understanding of it by the average citizen is completely out of the question. The average citizen, of course, will not try to understand it nor even read it.

BUT it seems almost as puzzling to the statistical sharks who have to read it and are supposed to understand. One thing about which they appear to agree is that the message was prepared by half a dozen or more individuals who lacked co-ordination both as to thought and facts. Another thing that seems clear is that Mr. Roosevelt was not among these individuals. There are two reasons for thinking so. The first is the well-known fact that figures give Mr. Roosevelt a headache. The second is that the message is a masterpiece of delegation to his subordinates. They bore and tire him. All he wants is to see the finished product—for which few can blame him. The second reason is the extraordinary inconsistency of the positions in which the budget declarations place him. It is hard to conceive that a man would place himself in such a position. It can be best accounted for on the theory that the work of the preparatory group was not carefully reviewed and that these gentlemen did not labor very closely together.

FOR EXAMPLE, a large portion of the message deals with postwar expenditures. In practically all non-war directions, it recommends largely increased Government spending. Mr. Roosevelt seems to visualize a vast expanded postwar New Deal in which, besides the great expenditures for veterans and postwar aid to other nations, there will be expansion and greater spending by numerous Federal agencies—such as the Commodity Credit Corporation and the Export-Import Bank; increased subsidies for agriculture; permanently increased salaries for Federal employees; a vast public works and highway program; an expanded system of Federal loans and guarantees, etc., etc.

THE budget does not touch upon how the money for these things is to be obtained. Apparently, the President is not troubled by that detail. Apparently, the money is to be the result of postwar deficit financing and increased debt. There is no other suggestion. On the other hand, a distinct aversion to imposing further taxes upon the "masses of consumers" is expressed, which means, if it means anything, that any increased taxes will be levied on the investor class. Yet, knowledge that taxes on this class already have reached a confiscatory stage, makes it clear that the additional revenue thus gained would be trivial and that additional burdens would rob private enterprise of its power to supply jobs through expansion and expenditure.

SO, obviously, the President must contemplate financing this great governmental postwar program by further borrowings and further increasing the national debt, which he guesses will be $292,000,000,000 by June 30, 1946. But elsewhere in the budget, Mr. Roosevelt declares that "I favor a policy of orderly but steady debt reduction, consistent with the objective of long-run economic policy." Now, the same man who wrote that sentence could hardly have written those outlining this great program of governmental spending or those proposing a decrease in the taxes on the "masses of consumers." These things just cannot be reconciled.

TO DO even part of what Mr. Roosevelt suggests as the governmental postwar program precludes any reduction in debt, orderly, steady or otherwise. To advocate both indicates that there was no teamwork in writing the message. No effort to reconcile these things has been made. Nor has there been any explanation of what the President means when he says: "The mistakes in debt management and tax policy after the last war must not be repeated." As the chief feature after the last war was a steady reduction of debt at the rate of $345,000,000 a year, Mr. Roosevelt leaves the impression that he regards this as bad, despite his advocacy of "a policy of orderly but steady debt reduction." These contradictions baffle reason. Clearly, Congress will be unable to use the message as a guide. Certainly, it holds out no hope regarding control of Federal expenses, of getting tax relief, of holding down much less reducing the Federal debt, of headline off serious inflation.

GOOD LOOKS

It seems that every normal person values a good personal appearance.

Good looks seem to make a very valuable asset.

A man does not need to be handsome to present a good appearance. A woman does not need to be pretty to be presentable.

Perhaps good sleep and cleanliness have more to do with a good appearance than anything else does.

A well balanced diet of protein, sugar and fat helps the appearance.

The proper amount of sleep is necessary.

Vitamins and minerals help to keep the body in good condition.

Cleanliness and neatness go a long way in keeping fit.

Foreigners In Naziland Upset Reich Economy
Nazi Morale Being Undermined By Whispering
United Auto Workers Nice Plum For Mr. Lewis

By HELEN ESSARY
(Central Press Columnist)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—Allied armies on the western front are being helped materially in strange ways by prisoners and forced laborers now inside the Reich. One report relates how foreign workers and captives are undermining Nazi morale by the simple device of spreading discredit of the Nazi financial system.

Since these foreigners are cut off from their homelands until the war is ended, they feel they should spend their earnings on tangible goods rather than "bank" it. They spend freely, by anything of tangible value, promoting the black market and—to add insult to German pride—tell Nazi shopkeepers to "lassen sie nur" (keep the change).

Foreign circles report this complete disregard for the stability of German currency and financial institutions is having a marked effect on Nazi morale and is creating distrust among the "herrenvolk" for their own banks and reichsmarks.

UAW Likes Lewis

If John L. Lewis goes back into the American Federation of Labor and starts actively to woo Congress of Industrial Organization members for the federation, one of the most fertile fields will probably be the United Auto Workers Union.

Biggest CIO union, approximately 1,000,000 strong, the UAW faces an unstable postwar future. Lewis originally organized the auto industry; countless UAW members are strongly attached to him.

The auto union, moreover, now is torn by conflict among the leadership. R. J. Thomas' grip as international president is considered none too firm. He recently attempted to increase the number of vice presidents in the UAW to build up his support but the move failed when he left for a brief trip to London.

After the war, UAW leaders are heavily in membership. Its members are scattered through the many war-time enterprises of the auto manufacturers which will be abandoned with victory. Thousands probably will be unable to find jobs in the auto industry and will be more or less free to drift to any call from Lewis.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

TINY BABY AND HIS SLEEP

The new-born baby normally sleeps all the time while not being fed or bathed. Greatly reduced in his crib he goes immediately to sleep. If he does not do so for the next several weeks or months he has been spoiled, or has physical discomfort from improper diet or maladjusted clothing.

After a few months this child may remain awake, especially by night, usually a little longer after being put into his crib, or awakened slightly earlier after a day nap. He may lie there happy, looking at anything within his narrow range of vision, especially his moving hands, or amuse himself at inventing sounds. The mother is tempted then to go to him, to talk to him, and to enjoy his responses to her.

As a rule, however, it would be better for him to have her find such enjoyment only while he is up, being changed, bathed or relaxing before a meal.

Before Bath

Just before the bath is a good time for the infant to have several minutes of play and freedom, squirming, kicking, stretching on blanket on a large table, entirely nude. Also, that is a good time for other members of the family to enjoy him.

He is better off not to be held, except when necessary to his care. Yet dad needs to have some pleasure with the baby to keep alive his interest in the child, and may find the best time to hold him for a short period before the baby's evening meal—rarely after feeding. There is temptation to rock or teeter the baby then, interfering with digestion and so exciting him as to make him sleepless.

Nothing is so important as strict regularity in feeding and bathing of the baby. "Help" in regularity of sleep habits.

My bulletin, "Sleep Problems, Their Prevention and Correction" may be had by writing me at 235 East 45th Street, New York City, enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope.

Infant Sleep

Let the infant sleep in a well-ventilated room, with air circulating but draughts prevented by cloth screens. Temperature not over 60 degrees, and don't cover the child too warmly. The bed clothing should, however, be warm enough, but without much weight, placed loosely over the child, pinned on each side with large safety pins, but pinned low enough so as to be safe. A solid mattress should be chosen with a rubber sheet over it. No bolster, and only a low, thin pillow, or none at all.

Choose a crib with bars too close for the baby later to put his head through. After the age of two or three the child should have a low cot he can climb into and out of alone. If possible, he should have his own sleeping room; certainly his own bed.

No good reason why the family should tip-toe about or avoid the usual noises. To regular noises the baby soon becomes accustomed.

VERY INFERIOR BOARD

Demand by Representative Haddock of Indiana for inquiry into the qualification of two recently appointed members of the surplus property disposal board, should have attracted not only in Congress, but throughout the country, the personnel of this important agency. This board will have the responsibility of disposing of surplus property variously estimated at sixty to one hundred billion dollars. Of this vast total a minimum of fifteen billions is calculated to be consumer goods. It will deal with huge war plants, great quantities of military materials and large tracts of real estate. In total, its sales will be greater than the average entire national business transacted in years prior to our war boom.

Obviously, such a task is not a mere political job. It is a job to be performed only by the ablest, most experienced and most scrupulous business men, actuated solely by fairness and proper concern for maintaining the country's economic balance. It is a field far above personal favoritism of political maneuvering. These billions of dollars represent money taken from the pockets of the people in war loans and taxes, money levied for the sacrifice of the nation.

Bible Thought

But ye shall receive power, after that the Holy Ghost is come upon you; and ye shall be witnesses unto me. Acts 1:8.

How many lives has an M-18 HELLCAT?

One way to answer that question is to take a look at battle-front reports from a Buick engineer, sent to get firsthand dope on how the Buick-built M-18 Hellcat is doing.

On one occasion, he writes, one of our Hellcats ran into nine enemy tanks of various sizes.

When the smoke cleared away, all of the German vehicles lay in blasted ruins. The Hellcat was knocked out, too — but only after taking a nine-to-one toll.

In another engagement, eight M-18's were attacked by 20 enemy tanks. When the battle was over, three German tanks were scurrying for cover, 17 were done for — and none of our vehicles or men had been hurt.

But that isn't the whole story.

To the men who handle them, ability to stay in the fight is just as important as the Hellcat's 55-mile top speed, its ability to master any terrain, and the accuracy of its high velocity 76-mm. cannon.

On that score, this can be quoted direct from the same sort of battle-front reports:

"The vehicles have gone mile after mile with little or no maintenance, and in most cases they keep right on going."

All of which, as we see it, makes a gratifying picture. The Hellcats are fast. They go anywhere. They hit hard. And, in the good Buick tradition, they can take it.

Which is exactly what Buick men and Ordnance experts were aiming for from the start.

W.A.C. Feeding Is Less Costly Than Men In Armies

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—The War Department announced tonight that Women's eating taste differs from men's.

This discovery, while not likely to shorten the war appreciably, will save the army nearly three million dollars a year, the announcement said.

Some time ago, the War Department disclosed, Quartermaster Corps investigators sought an answer to the question, "do women (as in the Women's Army Corps) eat a man's ration?"

The answer is: No. The average WAC does not like fried potatoes for breakfast. On this basis the Quartermaster Corps immediately cut WAC rations on 34 different items.

Investigators found that although a soldier wants two eggs for breakfast, a WAC will be content with one. Men like a second helping of breakfast sausage, but the average WAC doesn't.

WAC's can get along with 55 per cent less sausage than men, 25 per cent less coffee, 25 per cent less pastry, 50 per cent less dry cereal, 15 per cent less sugar, and 30 per cent less syrup.

red purpose of fighting a war. Their proper distribution is important to the welfare of private business and their sale at just prices is important both to the buyer and the taxpayer.

Considering the vital importance of the surplus property disposal agency, it seems inconceivable that the President would make it a haven for lame ducks and men whose only demonstrated qualifications are political. The two appointments already made to the board, however, leave that impression, as well as the third said to be in prospect. Present appointees are Robert A. Hurley of Connecticut, and I. W. Heller of California; prospective is Senator Guy M. Gillette of Iowa. What are their qualifications for this tremendous task?

Mr. Hurley is a political lame duck, having been defeated as Democratic nominee for Governor of Connecticut. As a personal friend of Harry Hopkins he served as head of the WPA in Connecticut. His business record is limited to the vice-presidency of a modest war manufacturing plant—a record which was discontinued by the House military affairs committee in a report which connected Mr. Hurley somewhat dubiously with a government loan of two million dollars and disclosed him as drawing a twelve thousand dollar salary for spending "as little as one day a week at the plant."

His standing with the voters of Connecticut is shown in his decisive defeat for governor, although Mr. Roosevelt took the state by nearly fifty thousand majority.

Mr. Heller's chief claim to distinction is that he was Democratic Finance Chairman of California in the 1940 campaign; that his wife is now a Democratic national committee-woman from that state and that he has the backing of Edwin Pauley, California oil man, treasurer of the Democratic national committee, a deputy of Secretary Ickes, together with the endorsement of Harry Hopkins.

Senator Gillette's chief qualification is that he is a Democratic lame duck Senator from Iowa, defeated in the last election.

Every indication is that the appointments of Mr. Hurley and Mr. Heller were dictated by Harry Hopkins, with the unescapable assumption that Mr. Hopkins will be the power behind the operations of the board. If this assumption is correct, it means that the biggest and most complex business assignment ever turned over to any government agency will be ruled by the arch-spenders of American history—the authors of that famous slogan, "We will spend and spend, tax and tax, elect and elect."

Representative Halleck should have unanimous support in his demand for investigation. We do not believe that these appointments can stand up under the full light of publicity.

Victory For OPA

The Christmas week-end tightening of food rationing represents a major policy victory for the Office of Price Administration, vindicating the agency in its position that the controls never should have been relaxed in the first place.

The blame for a vacillating ration policy on food lies with the War Food Administration. WFA insisted on taking canned goods off rationing last September against OPA's warning that there was not enough canned goods reserve to do so. WFA also fought OPA's insistence that meat and major canned vegetables go back on rationing in December.

So what has happened is merely this: the tightened food control came just a month late—in late December and early January instead of late November—because of WFA backing.

The latter agency wanted to avoid piling up food surpluses in case Germany was defeated soon and insisted there was not any overall food shortage anyway and that rationing was not needed. OPA countered with figures showing expected declines in civilian canned goods and meat supplies.

Clean Sidewalks; Minimize Accidents

Harold Wood, inspector of sidewalks, today visited various properties where snow which blanketed sidewalks and caused hazardous condition and requested that sidewalks be cleaned.

Residents in some sections where sidewalks are coated with ice have placed fine ashes, sand or sawdust on the ice to minimize the possibility of falls with resultant bone fractures.

Police are required according to city ordinance to report to superiors all dangerous sidewalks, hence it is likely that many residents will be asked to clean their sidewalks.

Reapportionment Of Senate Asked In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG, Jan. 16.—(INS)—The Senate Apportionment Committee has a bill from Sen. Louis H. Farrel (R) Phila., today proposing the first senatorial reapportionment since 1921.

The measure, first bill to be introduced in the upper chamber revised senatorial lines only in Philadelphia but Sen. John M. Walker (R) Allegheny, said he would sponsor amendments to include Allegheny county in the reshuffling.

Farrell, who pointed out Philadelphia senatorial representation ranged from approximately 75,000 for one senator to 267,000 for another said enactment of his bill would "level off" the number of constituents for each senator. Farrell's bill was the same passed 32-9 in the senate in 1941 but killed by a Democratic-controlled house.

How to Make a Splendid Cough Syrup at Home

A Big Saving, and It's So Easy! No Cooking!

Cough medicines usually contain a large quantity of plain syrup—a good ingredient, but one which you can easily make at home. Take 2 cups of granulated sugar and 1 cup of water, and stir a few moments until dissolved. No cooking! No trouble at all. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Then get from your druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a pint bottle, and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of truly wonderful medicine for coughs due to colds. It makes a real saving for you, because it gives you about four times as much for your money. It lasts a long time, never spoils, and children love it. This is actually a surprisingly effective, quick-acting cough medicine. Promptly, you feel it taking hold. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes and makes breathing easier. You've never seen anything better for prompt and pleasing results. Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, a most reliable soothing agent for throat and bronchial membranes. Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

FIRST REPORT ON SCHOOL SURVEY IS PRESENTED

Teachers of equal qualifications and experience would receive the same salaries, whether teaching in the elementary, junior or senior high schools, is recommended.

Higher salaries for all school employees including the administrative, instructional, clerical and custodial staffs are declared imperative in the report.

Although the report points out that the present elementary and school buildings are old and unsatisfactory for both the educational program and the organization of the school, high praise was given for the way in which they are kept.

An extensive elementary school building program, although badly needed, must wait for from five to ten years pending the future fate of New Castle and the payment of existing school bonded indebtedness, the report declares.

Emphatic recommendations were made that the board of directors not engage in the details of the administration of the schools. The high percentage of native New Castle teachers was also declared to be unfortunate.

The functions of the board of directors was declared to be that of forming policies not actually carrying out adopted policies.

Property Assessment
The question was raised concerning the property assessment of the New Castle school district. It is recommended that serious study be made of assessments towards a fairer and more equitable system of taxation. New Castle's total school bonded debt as well as its per capita school bonded debt is per capita as compared with the other 19 second class school districts of Pennsylvania.

The report praises the administration for opening the swimming pools of the schools for use by business women. The suggestion is made that further use of the school buildings be made possible by additional opportunities to adult groups.

Dr. Fowler addressed a joint meeting of the service clubs at noon today in The Castleton in which he outlined a number of the elements named above. Later this afternoon he addressed the school teachers of the city at a meeting in the senior high school. On Thursday night he will address a public meeting sponsored by the Woman's Club in the senior high school.

Work Or Fight Hearings Are Nearly Ended

By WILLIAM THEIS (U.S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—Labor cocked its "one-two-punch" at work-or-fight legislation today but Rep. Andrew J. May (D. Ky.), House Military chairman, predicted nevertheless committee approval of his bill revised only as to its form of penalty.

CIO President Philip Murray, following through an American Federation of Labor opposition to any forced draft of war workers, was the day's principal witness before May's Military Affairs committee.

May said he was confident that he would "have the votes" to report out his legislation with a substitution of fine or imprisonment for its original penalty of Army induction.

Some Undecided
While many members of the military committee indicated they had not yet made up their minds on how far to go in forcing 4-F's and other workers into essential jobs, May had this to say:

"We will conclude the hearings Wednesday and my prediction is that we shortly thereafter will report out a bill substantially like the one I introduced, but with the substitution of civil penalties for the Army work units."

"I am willing to accept this change. Some of the members, but I don't believe there are enough of them, want to give the job inventory and referral assignment to the War Manpower Commission instead of letting the draft boards handle it."

To Head Manufacturers
The remaining major organization to be heard after the CIO May said, was the National Association of Manufacturers.

Lewis G. Hines, AFL legislative representative, threw the first half of labor's roundhouse blow against any kind of work-or-fight legislation yesterday. He demanded that government, in cooperation with labor and industry, first exhaust the "voluntary" method now being used through the War Manpower Commission.

He joined the Socialist party in calling for a break in the "Little Steel" wage formula as one necessary step to full utilization of manpower. And he accused the Army and Navy of using the "psychological moment" of the German break-through to press for labor draft action by Congress.

Mayor Fiorello La Guardia of New York, speaking for the Nation's local governments, warned that municipalities face a "dangerous situation" if some legislation is not promptly enacted. He recommended creation of a workers' "home guard" to help operate necessary city services and proposed that every man of military age first be inducted into the Army and then be deferred only if he holds an essential job.

Report Grove City Captain Missing

GROVE CITY, Jan. 16—Capt. John McKinley, 24, who commands the local National Guard company, is missing in action in Luxembourg since December 20, according to word received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. McKinley.

McKinley left Grove City with the company in February, 1941, as a corporal, and was commissioned in August, going overseas in September, 1943, in command of Headquarters Co., 112th Infantry, 28th Division. His company had heavy casualties from Nov. 6-8, with eight local boys included in the list of missing.

Gibson Tells Of City's Battle To Keep Streets Open

Some idea of the problem confronting the city street department in the past six weeks was given the Lawrence county chapter, Pennsylvania Motor Truck Association members Monday night when City Councilman James Gibson, in charge of streets, was the speaker at the dinner meeting held in the Castleton hotel.

Unusual snowfall, shortage of manpower and shortage of equipment presented the street department with a problem the like of which the city has not had in many years if it ever had one as difficult. The city has 62 miles of paved street and 34 miles of dirt streets, said Mr. Gibson. There are 37 hills on city streets which must be ashed in bad weather of which 17 are main thoroughfare hills. Bridges in the city must be ashed, intersections where traffic lights are located must be ashed also.

The storm of December 11 hit hard and fast, Mr. Gibson said. The immediate problem presented to the street department was whether to plow snow for length or breadth. If wide cartways were cleared, some could not have been touched and it was decided to try for length with cartway clearance narrower than it might have been.

In the meantime traffic was packing down the snow and an ice cap was built on both sides of the cartway, adding to the traffic hazards. Quick thaw and rain made it necessary to ash hills and intersections and it all took time and equipment. Mr. Gibson did not pretend to advance the idea that every street in the city was cleared, but he did say he thought the men of his department had done an outstanding job considering all the difficulties. In this the truckers agreed with him. His was an interesting talk as it gave the truckers some idea of the troubles that beset a street department.

The chapter set Saturday night, March 17, as the annual Ladies' Night dinner to be held in the Castleton hotel. Other matters of business were disposed of during the meeting.

Force squeezing down on the Germans from the north, the 75th Division, is commanded by Maj. Gen. Fay B. Pritchett. Troops of the U. S. Third Army continued to meet heavy German resistance southwest of Houffalize but the 11th Armored Division was successful in clearing out the town of Velleroux, four miles southwest of Houffalize, after taking Compeigne.

Armored Division Pushes Ahead
The sixth armored division pushed ahead just short of Mischamps, four and one-half miles northeast of Bastogne, while the 11th was astride the Bastogne-Houffalize road, moving a mile and one-half beyond Novilles, three and one-half miles southeast of Houffalize.

The 90th division, fighting heavy resistance and counter-attacks, moved a mile and one-half forward and occupied Niederwampach, five miles east of Bastogne. But the Germans were bitterly contesting every inch of ground west of Wiltz, in northern Luxembourg, along the Wiltz river.

The fact that First Army spearheads were inside Houffalize caused no lessening of the heavy Nazi resistance east and southeast of Bastogne.

Increased artillery activity by the enemy was noted from around Wiltz west to Bastogne, indicating that Field Marshal Karl Gerd Von Rundstedt intends to maintain the shoulders of the crushed salient until he gets as much as possible of his men and armor out of the area between St. Vith and Wiltz.

Bitter Fighting
On the north side of the salient, in the Stavelot-Malmédy sector, the Allied attack extended to the area of Fagnonville and Ligneuville which were occupied by the Americans.

There was bitter fighting in this area, particularly in the vicinity of Thirimont. Numerous German counter-attacks, some with tanks, were repelled.

To the southwest, Americans fought into the outskirts of Bovy, four miles south of Velsalm, and strengthened their hold on the Bovy-Cherain road.

The town of Wibrin, northwest of Houffalize, was cleared and the First Army advanced southeast beyond Achotse, two miles northwest of Houffalize.

Headquarters revealed that German losses in the first two weeks of the enemy offensive in the Alsace-Lorraine area, totaled an estimated 10,000 or more killed and wounded. Some 4,000 prisoners were taken and 100 tanks were knocked out.

On Seventh Army Front
Bitter fighting was reported still in progress on the Seventh Army front where the Americans were battling to contain fierce German attacks, supported by armor and artillery in the Hatten area.

Carrying offensive tactics back into Germany, troops of the Third Army east of the Moselle River cleared the enemy from the German towns of Weis and Nenning, three-quarters of a mile and one mile, respectively, inside the Reich frontier. They also cleared the Nazis from the town of Butendorf.

Headquarters said that the Seventh Army in the Haguenau Forest area was battling to neutralize German counter-attacks around Hatten in which the enemy employed flame-throwing tanks.

Dispatches from the front said that fighting around Hatten had intensified with the Germans continuing to pour in reinforcements. The Germans apparently were reinforced by fresh units brought into the line and attacked in strength in mid-afternoon yesterday after having let loose with a morning assault.

WIFE OF SERVICE

MAN FOUND DEAD

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16.—(INS)—Authorities today probed the mysterious death of Mrs. Louise Caranfa, attractive 26-year-old wife of a service man, whose body was found in a partially-filled bathtub in her West Philadelphia home. An autopsy was delayed pending results of the investigation. Coroner's Detective John Gross said the woman had been shot through the left side and that the weapon, a 25-caliber automatic pistol, was found in the tub.

Negro Confesses Death Of Woman

Negro Chef In Hotel Near Greensburg Admits Attacking, Causing Death Of Hotel Maid

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 16.—(INS)—Edgar D. Duffy, 58, negro chef at the Mountain View hotel, near Greensburg, today was being held in connection with the death of Mrs. Mary C. Criss, 48, formerly of Monessen, whose body was found following a fire at the hotel.

According to State Police Captain A. J. Hudock, Duffy signed a confession that he criminally assaulted Mrs. Criss, a maid at the hotel, and then kindled a fire under the mattress of her bed last January 9. Mrs. Criss died of burns of the body and suffocation.

Duffy, who had been employed at the hotel for three years, allegedly told District Attorney Edward G. Bauer of Westmoreland county that he went to the woman's room early in the morning and attacked her, stifling her cries with a blanket.

Capt. Hudock said that the appearance of the woman's body led Coroner H. A. McMurry to conduct a post mortem.

Poor Response To Call For Workers

Local Employment Office Receives Only 34 Applications For Essential Jobs Monday

In spite of warnings from the War Manpower Commission that compulsory action will have to be taken unless many more workers volunteer for jobs in "must" industries, only 34 referrals for such jobs were made by the local United States Employment Service office on Monday, stated George R. Gettings, manager of the office.

"At this rate, it will take us about twenty days to recruit the number of workers we need, and by that time our quota may have doubled," Mr. Gettings explained. "This total of 34 applicants is no more than the usual Monday total."

While women are also needed in plants, these "must" jobs call for able-bodied male workers from less essential industries. Unless the quota is filled more rapidly, further action will have to be taken, Mr. Gettings said.

FIFTH GOLD STAR

GROVE CITY, Jan. 16.—The fifth gold star for its Maritime Commission "M" burgee was received today by the Cooper-Bessemer Corporation for its Grove City plant, denoting continued success in meeting government wartime demands for critically-needed Diesel engines. The plant here received the "M" on December 18, 1942, and each of the first stars had been added at six-month intervals.

The local plant also flies the Army-Navy "E" award.

Wife Of Pharmacist Mate Robert Stratton Arrives In City After Long Journey

Mrs. Marjorie Stratton, wife of Pharmacist Mate 1-c Robert B. Stratton, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert B. Stratton, of 409 Park avenue, arrived in New Castle Tuesday to join her husband, who has been home on leave after extended service in the Pacific area. She will get to spend four days with her husband, who will have to leave Sunday for San Diego, Calif., to return to duty.

She and Pharmacist Mate Stratton were married in Auckland, New Zealand, her home, on July 15 last year. It took her practically two months to complete her journey here and she will reside with her husband's parents until his return from service.

Engineers Society Hears About Motors

R. W. Greene, field engineer of U. S. Electrical Motors, Inc., gave a fine talk and demonstration of vario-drive motors at the monthly dinner meeting of the Mahoning Shenango Valley Engineers society in The Castleton, Monday evening. Mr. Green showed a film entitled "Rhapsody in Speed," which showed the various uses of this type of motor attachment which produces any desired speed. He had a model which attracted considerable interest.

President Paul G. Dingley announced the appointment of the following committee chairman: program, J. P. Boyles, Shenango Pottery; membership, A. V. Bolt, Aluminum company of America; civic committee, J. Lepore Mathews, City of New Castle water company; library, N. F. Vidal, Pennsylvania Power company.

Trinity Church Elects Vestrymen

Very Rev. N. R. High Moor Of Pittsburgh Speaks At Annual Parish Dinner

Three vestrymen each to serve for a three-year term were elected at the annual parish meeting of Trinity Episcopal church held in the Guild room of the church on Monday evening. They are Paul F. Butz, Harry J. Culliford and George Heltsch.

One of the most largely attended parish meetings for some years, the meeting began with dinner served in the Guild room at 6:30 to nearly 120.

The rector's annual report presented by Rev. R. M. C. Griswold showed gratifying progress during the past year. Comparison with an annual report of 20 years ago served to emphasize the progress that has been made since 1924.

Guest of honor at the dinner and main speaker of the evening was the Very Reverend N. R. High Moor, dean of the Episcopal Cathedral in Pittsburgh. Although he spoke in a semi-humorous vein he also brought out in his talk on the theme "Eyes," a number of Christian truths.

Special recognition was accorded members of the congregation who have served in various capacities during the past year, including Miss Elizabeth Reis, president of the parish council, Miss Betty Emery, secretary of the parish council, Miss Nancy Bechtel, financial secretary of the council, Mrs. Donald P. Eckles, assistant treasurer, and Mrs. Clifford Colgan, and Mrs. Howard R. Kley who have acted as chairmen for the dinners that have been served at the church during the year.

The Link Between

THE COAL MINES
AND
YOUR FUEL DEALER

From the nation's vast coal regions, America's Railroads are moving an endless stream of heat and power producing coal. To your fuel dealer the railroad is the main artery of coal supply...the dependable link that helps him fill your year 'round coal requirements.

Serving many of America's major coal producers, hauling over 60,000,000 tons of coal each year, the Baltimore & Ohio, with its 11,000 miles of track and 70,000 workers, is one of the nation's strongest links between coal mines and fuel dealers. We, of the B&O, fully realize the dependence they and you place in our great link. That is why, today as always, we strive to bring you the finest of rail service... the full benefits of modern rail transport.

Many Measures Are Presented In State Legislature

By JAMES H. SMITH

HARRISBURG, Jan. 16.—Spurred by the presentation of part of Gov. Edward Martin's legislative blueprint for the 1945 assemblymen looked forward today to one of the most businesslike meetings in the commonwealth's history.

The house will convene today at 2 p. m. and the senate one hour later.

Measures Presented

Shortly after the Republican-controlled house convened last night, GOP wheelhorses introduced administration measures designed to re-examine taxes on cigarettes, liquor, gross receipts and corporate net incomes. The four emergency levies, first adopted 10 years ago, were expected to yield the commonwealth more than $152,000,000 during the next biennium starting June 1.

The GOP also threw its weight behind a bill which would make permanent the cent-a-gallon tax on liquid fuels. A companion bill was anticipated to provide for allocating the receipts in the next biennium to municipalities to enable local authorities relieve the burden on real estate.

One hundred and eighty-eight bills were introduced in both houses when the lawmakers returned from a 12-day recess. Majority leaders expected to have a working calendar tomorrow.

Allocate Teacher Funds

Also presented was a measure allocating more than $27,000,000 during the 1945-47 biennium for continuation of the cost-of-living salary bonuses for approximately 61,000 teachers. A companion bill proposed earmarking $2,422,000 to enable the department of public instruction to make final payments on the original bonuses approved by the assembly in 1943.

House Minority Leader Hiram G. Andrews, of Cambria, introduced a 14-point program which he claimed would speed the legislature's work if the GOP-dominated assembly would concur in the provisions.

Senate Majority Leader Weldon B. Heyburn, of Delaware, introduced the administration's bill liberalizing unemployment compensation benefit weeks from 16 to 20, increase maximum payments from $18 to $20 a week, lower the waiting period from two to one week and provide for partial jobless benefits.

Minority Leader John H. Dent of Westmoreland, introduced a resolution, calling for Secretary of Highways John U. Shroyer to meet with a committee to explain the reason state highway maintenance crews have not removed the snow from many secondary routes in western Pennsylvania. He said he would press for action on the resolution next week.

Youngster Injured In Auto Accident

Thomas Lee Clark, six years old, of 2207 Delaware avenue, received injuries to the head when struck by an auto Monday afternoon at 3:55 o'clock at the corner of Mill and Washington streets, the car being driven by Michael Daino of 602 Pearson street.

He was taken to the New Castle hospital, where his condition is reported as fairly good this morning.

SON EN ROUTE HOME FROM PACIFIC DUTY

In a call to his mother from Trenton, N. J., on Monday evening, Staff Sgt. Carl J. Stevens, who has been in service for the past 24 months in Australia, New Guinea and the Philippines, said, "Look for me home. I'll be there Wednesday."

His mother is Mrs. Carl B. Stevens of 606 West State street.

Three Ellwood Men Missing In Action

Sgt. Nelson Graham, Pvt. Pete DiLeonardo and Pvt. William Bingle Reported Lost

ELLWOOD CITY, Jan. 16.—Three Ellwood men, a sergeant and two privates are reported missing in action in the European war area, according to word received by their families.

Sgt. Nelson E. Graham, husband of Mrs. Helen Graham of New Castle, and son of Mr. and Mrs. Emmett Graham of Wurttemberg, has been missing in Germany since December 21. He went overseas last October and had been serving as a radioman in the infantry.

Twenty-year-old Pvt. Pete DiLeonardo, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Giuseppe DiLeonardo of Ellwood, is reported missing in Belgium since December 21. A member of an anti-aircraft unit, he served in England, France, Holland and Belgium.

Infantryman Pvt. William H. Bingle, who has been overseas since November, is reported missing in Germany since December 17. His wife, Mrs. Stella Bingle, and son live on Wiley Hill, while his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry C. Bingle, live in Fombell.

Man Who Returned To Face Trial Will Plead 'Not Guilty'

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Jan. 16.—(INS)—Following an 80-minute conference with his two state-appointed attorneys, Benjamin Miller, 73, today declared his intent to put his 40-year-old case before Criminal Court Judge Charles E. Miller next Monday.

The statement, prepared by his attorneys, L. E. Johnson and Wesley Powell, read:

"I am not guilty of the crime that I am here charged with. I shall enter a plea of not guilty."

Male did not indicate whether he would make his formal plea before Monday, when he is scheduled to go on trial charged with the murder of Walter O. Smith, a crippled school teacher.

The aged man returned to Fairmont unguarded from St. Helens, Ore., to stand trial for the slaying of the teacher, whom he allegedly killed with a hoe because the pedagogue had punished Male's son.

Committee To Report Tonight On Recreation

When members of the Mayor's recreation project committee convene at eight o'clock tonight in council chambers, City Hall, plans for the furtherance of the committee's projects will be reported.

The assembly room, third floor, where dancing is to be enjoyed, has been cleared of long benches which have been distributed to different city departments and the room has been painted.

Plumbers began arranging pipes for the installation of rest rooms in the health department, which also will be revamped and moved to another section of the third floor, as will the city's recreation director.

Inclement weather has delayed the construction of a skating rink north of Mahoning avenue between Atlantic avenue hillside and the P. R. R. Water is gushing into the lowlands.

The water flowed beneath the ice, which was covered by snow. Another dike was built and it is believed that when the snow is eradicated skating will be enjoyed.

Eight Persons Are Taken By Police

Lieutenants Willis G. McMullen and Thomas Jones today led officers at 1102 Scioto street where they arrested eight persons, one of whom, Sarah May, was accused of being the proprietress of a disorderly house and the others as visitors therein.

It was reported that there were some 18-year-olds and one 15-year-old in the place. They are all colored, and according to Police Chief Robert D. Hanna, the police visit resulted from complaints of other colored people about the asserted "goins' on."

All were held for a hearing before Mayor John F. Haven and possibly further action by Juvenile Court Officer Jack M. Dunlap.

Daytime Nurses Aides Urged To Enroll At Once

City Hospitals Need Daytime Nurses Aides To Replace Trained Nurses Leaving For Duty

An urgent plea is made for immediate action for more women volunteers to begin Red Cross nurses aide training with the class to be taught at the New Castle hospital, beginning Wednesday afternoon at 1 o'clock, by Mrs. Harry Barkby.

With the United States armed forces calling more registered nurses to the front lines of duty, the home front need for more nurses aides to do day care work at the hospitals has presented an extremely grave situation here that must be prepared for at once.

The Red Cross has arranged to rush applicants through to enable volunteers to begin with tomorrow's class at the New Castle hospital. For further information, same can be secured by calling either Mrs. W. Hayford, Moody avenue, 1633-R, or Mrs. W. J. Kinnard, Emerson avenue, 1002-J.

It is asked of housewives, war mothers and any woman who can give a few hours work to the hospitals in the morning and afternoons to please respond to this plea. Nurses aides already trained consist of a majority of women and girls who have daytime jobs, and can give evening hours, thus the request for those who can devote time during the day.

Salvation Army Youth Meetings Become Real Club

It's going to be a regular club, according to members of the Youth group of the Salvation Army, which meets every Wednesday evening in the Army headquarters on Jefferson street.

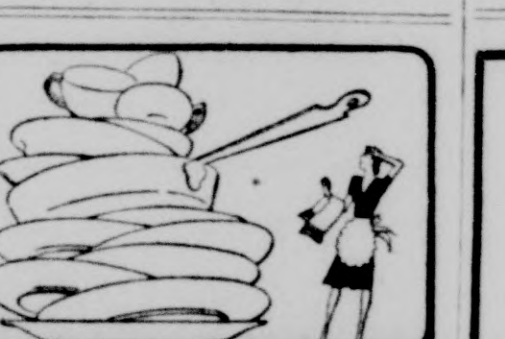

These members range in age from eight to eighteen years, but they have much in common in spite of that. For one thing, they are all interested in the pink-pong tables which the boys are building for the third floor now. One of them is practically finished, and will be ready for games almost any time.

Although the first floor of the barn in back of the house has been fixed up as a craft room, the youngsters decided the temperature was just a bit too low, so they moved their tools to the third floor of the house, and have taken over one room as a craft room. Before very long, they expected to have their attic completely equipped, including even an ouija board.

The "charter members" are bringing their friends to this week's meeting, and officers will be elected to give definite form to this club. Its name, by the way, is the "Youth Victory Club." Salvation Army Captain Thelma Dandon is in charge.

ARRESTED FOR LARCENY

Nick Frank, Tremont street, and Robert Stull, Ashland avenue, were arrested by city detectives, following a preliminary inquiry by Cruise Police Harper and R. Richards last night, it being said they confessed to stealing a carburetor from the garage car of J. W. Marchionda, North Lafayette street.

Ration Basis For Cigarettes Will Be Tried

By JERRY HEALEY
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—The National Association of Tobacco Distributors stepped in today where the Office of Price Administration feared to tread and the result is that smokers are going to get their cigarettes on a ration basis.

"Ration cards will be sent to retail cigarette dealers within two weeks, according to Joseph Kolodny, executive secretary of the association, after a meeting in Chicago.

Numbered Ration Cards
The numbered ration cards—to be punched each time a pack of cigarettes is sold—already have been printed and are ready for distribution to the association's 2,800 members, who control the distribution of cigarettes to the nation's 1,250,000 outlets.

"It is assumed dealers will confine their issuance of cards to regular customers," said Kolodny.

He pointed out that the OPA has avoided cigarette rationing because of the difficulty of discovering a fair method of determining how many persons are cigarette smokers. The new ration system will work this way, Kolodny said:

"Dealers will honor only cards of their own issuance and consumers will be requested to sign a declaration that they hold not more than one card."

Supply Customers
Retailers will apportion their supply among their customers because, Kolodny said, they are anxious to treat all customers fairly and "they certainly don't want to conduct their establishments as speakeasies."

"You know how, now, the tobacco counter clerk slides cigarettes at you—when you can get them—with a furtive glance at the customer standing nearby."

The plan will be voluntary, but Kolodny believes that retailers and consumers will welcome it because it will aid in fair distribution.

"Now, if you know a friend who knows a friend etc., you might get a package—if they have any."

Some Places Exempt

The rationing will not be attempted at hotels, railroad stations or shops which cater to transient trade. Many hotels already ration cigarettes to persons carrying room keys.

Predicting that the best smokers can hope for in 1945 is an average of about 15 cigarettes a day, Kolodny said the new system will foil the hoarders who shop every possible outlet.

Eventually, he said, every cigarette smoker will be limited to a single source of supply under the plan.

He added that it was the first time that an industry has attempted the wartime rationing of a scarce commodity.

Kolodny couldn't predict future supplies because of labor shortage complications in manufacturing plants and the possibility of an increase in overseas shipments to the armed forces which received 28 per cent of the total 1944 production.

Sgt. W. J. Sloan Jr. Killed On Christmas

Parents Receive Word From War Department Telling Of Son's Death In European Theater

Sgt. Wilbur J. Sloan, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur J. Sloan, of 321 Englewood avenue, was killed in action in the European theater on December 25, according to a telegram received from the War Department Monday.

Sgt. Sloan enlisted in July, 1942, and was called into service on February 16, 1943. He left for overseas duty about the middle of November, and had been in action only a few days when he met his death.

Sgt. Sloan was born February 5, 1921. He graduated from Edinboro State Teachers college in January, 1943, and took an A. S. T. F. course at the University of Missouri, where he graduated in the language and area course. He was a graduate of Senior High school, in the class of 1939, and a member of the First Methodist church.

Pvt. P. D. Johnston Recovers In England

(Special To The News)

A U. S. ARMY GENERAL HOSPITAL, England—Wounded by machine gun fire in the left leg during the fighting outside a small town in Luxembourg, Pvt. Perry D. Johnston, 30, of Harlansburg road, New Castle, Penna., is now recovering at this United States Army general hospital in England.

Pvt. Johnston has been wounded previously in the Normandy campaign. Now awarded the Oak Leaf Cluster to the Purple Heart, the infantryman is "recovering satisfactorily," according to his ward surgeon, Captain Gordon Healey of Webb City, Missouri.

"This little town on the Moselle river looked peaceful enough," he said, "but machine gun fire opened up and hit me in the left leg. Every time one of our soldiers tried to rescue me the German machine guns would drive them off."

"I laid there for three hours—the longest three hours of my life. I finally crawled out to safety where the medics treated me. The people gave me wine and food. I was brought to England by air this second time," he said.

Pvt. Johnston was formerly a salesman for the J. J. Dean Wholesale Grocery. His wife, Mrs. Beryl Johnston and their son, Raymond Dale, live on Harlansburg road, New Castle.

Brice-Fullerton On Committees

In the formation of committees in the House of Representatives, Pennsylvania General Assembly, announced Monday night, the two Lawrence county members were given vice chairmanships.

Assemblyman James C. Brice, representing the City of New Castle was made vice-chairman of the Committee of Military Affairs, and Assemblyman W. Sharp Fullerton, representing the second district of the county was made vice chairman of the Committee on Highways. Both are active committees and through both of them will be cleared much important legislation this session it is anticipated.

SEZ WHO?

"YOU CAN'T LIVE in that tangled mess of wilderness," said the people who came down to the docks to see them off in 1620.

"Sez who?" said the Americans-to-be—and did it.

"You can't ignore my taxes," said a king, not many years later, "even though you had no voice in framing them."

"Sez who?" said the 1776 Americans—and set off the most momentous revolution in all history.

"You can't keep that hemisphere all for yourselves," said a big European coalition. "You've got to cut us in."

"Sez who?" said the 1823 Americans—and announced the Monroe Doctrine.

"You can't unite east and west," said the short-sighted. "They're too far apart."

"Sez who?" said the 1869 Americans—and threw a railroad across the continent.

"You can't pay laborers five dollars a day," said the look-with-alarmists.

"Sez who?" said the twentieth-century mass-production Americans. And proceeded to pay labor even more.

"You can't get over the Depression," said the weak-in-heart. "America's mature. It's full-grown. All you can do now is divide what you already have."

And Americans—a little frightened, a little timid—made no answer. Until three dictators, seeing our timidity, said, "Democracy is degenerate, anemic, afraid."

"Sez who?" said the 1941 Americans—and rolled up their sleeves and built the biggest production plant and fought the greatest war the world had ever seen.

And now there are those who say, "But we'll never be able to use in peace all the productive capacity we built for war."

Sez who?

It's true that our productive plant is bigger than ever before. It's true that a lot of it was built for war. It's true that much of it will have to be rebuilt for peace.

So what? We can do it!

It's true that, to keep all that productive capacity operating, we'll have to make sure that people will be able to buy all we'll be able to produce after the war.

We can do that, too!

Not through government hand-outs—which would only pile up more debt and higher and higher taxes. But by using our productive capacity to give Americans more for their money in the things they buy, so they can buy more—and thus create more jobs and more earnings for all.

In short, by making full use of this country's limitless energy and ambition, we can help lead the world into an era of peace and plenty greater than any yet seen.

Business is pledged to do its part—first, by increasing the opportunities for all to earn and, second, by increasing the opportunities for all to buy.

To increase the opportunities for all to earn, business pledges a just and enlightened wage policy, and the opening of every possible avenue of advancement for the worker.

It proposes to proceed at the earliest possible moment with the starting of new ventures and the expansion of old

In order to provide more jobs for more people—including returning servicemen and demobilized war workers.

It proposes to put into workers' hands the most efficient tools available—so that a worker, by increasing his production, may add still further to his earnings.

To increase the opportunities for all to buy, business proposes to make full use of the technological "know how" it has accumulated during the war to put on the market the finest products that can be made, at the lowest prices for which they can be sold.

It proposes to seek, through unending study and research in the fields of production and distribution, every possible means for lowering prices still further over the years, so that more of the good things of life can be enjoyed by more and more of the people.

It proposes to encourage full and free competition to avoid restraint of trade and so assure better and better values.

This is business's program for the future. To bring it about as quickly as possible will require your help. For its accomplishment will need legislative action—action that you can encourage. Postwar tax policies that leave sufficient funds for expansion. Laws that clearly prevent unregulated monopoly. Labor policies that establish the responsibilities of both labor and management. And business operation under law instead of by unpredictable "directive."

If you wish to know more about this program, write for the free booklet, How Americans Can Earn More, Buy More, Have More. Address: National Industrial Information Committee, 14 West 49th Street, New York 20, N. Y.

These messages are published to make clear the steps that must be taken to assure the American people of an economy of abundance in the postwar world. They are sponsored by the NATIONAL INDUSTRIAL INFORMATION COMMITTEE OF THE NATIONAL ASSOCIATION OF MANUFACTURERS, which represents thousands of different businesses, large and small, employing 75 per cent of the wage earners in the manufacturing industry.

Self-Containment Should Be Aim Of U. S. Says Baruch

Nation's 100 Billion Dollar Surplus
War Property Problem Remains
Congress Spotlight

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(INS)—The nation's 100 billion dollar surplus war property problem moved nearer the spotlight in congress after being overshadowed by immediate foreign and war-prosecution issues.

Unofficial presidential adviser Bernard Baruch offered some advice that the nation should prepare itself for war or peace by maintaining what amounts to "ever-normal" supplies of metals and strategic war goods—as a weapon against cartels as well as war threats.

The senate war investigating committee prepared to press its probe of past surplus property disposal policies to help set a scandal-proof pattern for the future.

Baruch, in a letter to Sen. Edwin C. Johnson (D-Colo.), one of the framers of the disposal bill, reiterated the Baruch Hancock report principles and went on to say that the nation should have produced material surpluses purchased for war, and should develop its agriculture toward "self-containment."

Baruch saw "self-containment" as "constant evidence that we can take care of ourselves if we are forced to do so."

Advocating retention of foreign material surpluses that are non-perishable, Baruch also urged a study of copper and other war metal surpluses to determine how long existing supplies will last, and how much of the surpluses, if any, should be sold each year.

Lt. Joseph Osipuk Awarded Air Medal

(Special To The News)

AT A 12TH AAF B-25 BASE—First Lieutenant Joseph Osipuk, 22, now of Beaver Falls, Pa., bombardier-navigator of a B-25 Mitchell, was presented the Air Medal at a decoration ceremony held at a Corsican bomber base.

Lieutenant Osipuk, who flies with the "personal courage, professional skill and devotion to duty" he displayed during a July 13 attack on a rail bridge at Crenona, Italy.

Son of Maxim Osipuk, he is a graduate of New Castle High School, and entered the AAF August 27, 1942. Commissioned at Deming, N. M., he has been overseas six months.

Penn State athletes reported dead or missing in this war already number more than 35.

Local Soldiers Are Given Commendation

East Side Soldiers With Tank Battalion In France Share

Cpl. Robert L. Harris and T-5 Nick DiAlessandro, attached to the 702nd Tank Battalion, are among the recipients of a commendation to their unit from their commanding general, as follows:

"The 702nd tank battalion joined the 80th division on its arrival in France four months ago. Since joining the division, the tank battalion has participated in every action of the division. Although the official status of the battalion is an attached unit, the division feels that the battalion is as much a part of the division as the infantry regiments with which it works.

"The 702nd tank battalion has done an outstanding job. I congratulate you. I am proud to have you as a part of the 80th division. I would not trade the 702nd for any other tank battalion in the American army."

Ralph Talbot, lieutenant colonel, 702 tank battalion commander, states: "1. This is YOUR commendation. It is well and adequately deserved. 2. I cannot tell you how appreciative and proud I am of all of you. 3. A copy of this commendation will be given to each officer and enlisted man of this unit."

Cpl. Harris is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Harris of 8341 Harrison street, a graduate of New Castle high school. T-5 DiAlessandro is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory DiAlessandro of 765 Lathrop street. These two soldiers trained together, went overseas April 2, 1944, and are still together. Cpl. DiAlessandro is a graduate of New Castle high school, class of June '43.

In a recent letter from T-5 DiAlessandro to his mother, he states he recently traced a captured German horse for three chickens to a French farmer; of course he felt it was a hard bargain, but it was the best he could do.

With an area of 3,694,863 square miles, Canada is larger than the U. S. by half a million square miles, but its population (11,506,675) is only about that of greater New York.

Local USO Praised By Army Officers

Officers And Soldiers Alike Remember Local USO Hospitality, Express Appreciation

In appreciation for the hospitality and courtesies extended by the local USO, functioning every day of the week, Mrs. Olive Bollinger receives endless letters and cards from soldiers who have visited the New Castle service men's center, complimenting the committee and hostesses. Many write after they have been transferred or sent overseas. New Castle and its people apparently linger in their memories for the welcome given them. Officers have also written since the closing of Reynolds.

Of recent date Sgt. Nick Shinkoff at Camp Reynolds, who is known to many here, relates: "I don't know where my next camp will be, but I do know that it will be too far from the good town and people of New Castle—its USO and personnel. Somehow, no matter where I went, I managed to wind up at New Castle's USO. This is the sentiment of many soldiers whom I had the opportunity to meet in my capacity as athletic and recreational director of Camp Reynolds, Fourth Regiment. Your hostesses have been most gracious, and our regimental dances were an occasion anticipated when New Castle girls were to be our guests. They commanded respect. Keep up the good work and God bless you all," he concluded.

The same feeling is evidenced in another letter, from Raymond E. Vermette, Col. Inf., Fourth Regiment. He spoke in behalf of the officers and men of the Fourth Training Regiment, conveying gratitude and sincere thanks for co-operation and courtesies shown. In closing his message he states: "The splendid conduct of your lovely hostesses certainly was exemplary—do keep up the good work."

A letter from William R. Harris, second lieutenant, athletic and recreation officer, stressed the following: "In my capacity at Camp Reynolds, where I had the opportunity to be your host at our regimental center, I realized the time and money your girls spent to attend to bring home life a little closer to our soldiers. Your group's friendly attitude and splendid co-operation were of tremendous aid in our morale program and hold our respect."

Each week supervised hostess groups alternate in serving at the local USO center since the closing of Camp Reynolds. The same courtesies are shown and a great lot of good is accomplished for those in uniform fighting for us.

Lt. Robert Mauck Wins Medal, Cluster In Air Service

(Special To The News)

A U. S. TROOP CARRIER BASE, European Theater of Operations—At an airstrip in liberated France the Air Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster was presented to Lieutenant Robert C. Mauck, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. C. Mauck of Hillcrest avenue, New Castle, Pennsylvania.

In recognition of meritorious achievement while participating in hazardous aerial flight against the enemy, Pilot of a Troop Carrier "Dakota" aircraft, Lt. Mauck was one of the first American fliers over Cherbourg on the opening night of the continental invasion. He also participated in the paratroop and glider operation at Southern France and in the gigantic airborne invasion of Holland.

"The flak was terrific as we came over the drop zone to drop our paratroopers," said the New Castle airman, describing the Holland mission, "but we were able to get through it with minor injury."

"It was almost impossible to see the ground after we gave the paratroopers the go signal. The opening parachutes obscured everything. We couldn't stick around long enough to watch the rest of the show. The Holland run was the roughest of all the missions I participated in."

Mauck was graduated from New Castle high school in 1941 and attended Ohio Northern University before entering the Army Air Forces in December, 1942.

Writ Of Review Granted Kidnaper

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(INS)—The supreme court Monday, reversing itself, granted the petition of Thomas H. Robinson, under death sentence in Kentucky for kidnapping of Mrs. Alice Stoll of Louisville for a writ of review.

The court vacated an order entered December 18 in which it denied the petition. Robinson assailed constitutionality of the Lindbergh law as applied to his case.

Seven million people saw their homes blacked out

This shows the hurricane's path as it tore up the Atlantic Coast.

The big blow twisted the steeple off this Massachusetts church and toppled it into the street across the electric wires. Another headache for hard-working linemen.

LAST FALL, a raging hurricane roared up the eastern seaboard and left a $400,000,000 trail of wreckage from North Carolina to Maine.

Falling trees crushed houses, cars and power lines. Poles were snapped off by the fury of the storm. Hundreds of towns, millions of people had no electric service.

The electric light and power companies moved fast. Line crews worked around the clock. 18-hour stretches were common. Clerks, meter readers—everybody—pitched in to replace workers now at war. Short-wave radio helped direct the job.

Men and equipment came to New England from other electric companies as far west as Ohio and Michigan. In fact, some trucks were already rolling before the storm struck.

In most cases, service was quickly restored. Hospitals got first priority, then war plants. It was a staggering job, swiftly done—and helped immeasurably by the patience and understanding of customers.

This hurricane—like fires, floods, tornadoes across the country—dramatized anew the fact that only a major disaster can interrupt electric service.

It proved again that business-managed electric companies are organized and able to meet any emergency as completely as they met America's greatest emergency—war.

New Castle High Loses To Sharon In Thriller 32-28

New Castle Continues To Play In Tough Luck In Section Three

ANDREWS NEMETZ ARE STANDOUTS

New Castle high school basketball team continues to play in tough luck in Section Three, losing another thriller by a scant four-point margin last night to the Sharon High Tigers 32 to 28. The game was played in Washington gym before a crowd of perhaps 700 fans.

New Castle has lost to the three leading teams in the section—Beaver Falls, Pottsville and Sharon—11 to 4. New Castle assumed the initiative in the second period and closed the gap considerably, the count reading 18 to 15 Sharon at halftime.

Sharon took the lead last night in the first few seconds of play with Koss, the guard, dumping in a field goal on a nice play, and the visitors never surrendered the lead. The end of the first period found New Castle trailing by the biggest count, 11 to 4. New Castle assumed the initiative in the second period and closed the gap considerably, the count reading 18 to 15 Sharon at halftime.

Billy Andrews, playing one of the best games of his career, was the whole New Castle works the first half, getting eight of the points on a field and six straight fouls. Andrews Nemetz with seven points led the Sharon team in the first half. New Castle missed enough shots in the first half to win two ball games.

Ding-Dong Battle

The entire last half was a ding-dong affair with Sharon leading by one point, 14 to 13, Sharon winning the third stanza 8 to 6 and New Castle the final frame 7 to 6. Neither team used a substitute in the game most unusual, the players being tired from the strenuous play all during the day.

Sharon led 26 to 21 at the end of the third period and in the last quarter it was nip and tuck all the way. Nemetz made it 30 to 25 with the game about over and then Andrews made a field goal and foul to make it 30 to 28. But Nemetz with a few seconds to go dumped in his fifth field goal and the game was over.

New Brighton Next

New Castle plays at New Brighton on Friday night in a section game and will play Ellwood City here next Tuesday in the final game of the first round. The game next Tuesday will be the final one for Fred Wimer, the star center, and Eddie Jackson, the sterling guard. Both will be missed, both played hard and well last night, both boys missing the shots by inches.

Andrews with 13 points was the leading scorer in the game, with Nemetz second high man with 11 points.

Restricted Derby May Be Staged At Churchill Downs

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Jan. 16.—(INS)—The suggestion met with considerable scoffing, but Louisville horsemen said Monday they meant it when they proposed to hold the Kentucky Derby this year in spite of the ban on horse racing.

Entered in the historic classic, run first in 1875, would be only eligible 3-year-olds now at Churchill Downs, or which might be shipped to their home stables here. There would be no betting and practically no spectators, but the derby would be run as usual.

Churchill officials are hopeful they may get the permission of War Mobilizer James F. Byrnes to run the derby under these restricted conditions.

INDUS-CHURCH LOOP RESULTS

Universal Pottery Breaks Ice With Win; Baptists, Epworth Also Win Games

Three games were played in the Indus-Church league at the "Y" last night, the biggest upset being the Universal Pottery win over the Radiators 17 to 16 to break the losing streak for the Potters.

In the second game the First Baptist team defeated the St. George Greeks 34 to 23 in a well played game, with Lutz the big star with 22 points for the winners, and Johnny Passias and Rainey standouts in the Greek lineup.

The Epworth team, first-half champs continued to win, racking up the 11th straight win to upset Croton Methodists 26 to 19.

Revolver Shoot Here Tonight

Persons Soon To Enter Military Service Will Find Free Course Will Prove Valuable

Charles Brunton, school adjutant, New Castle Sportsman's Revolver Club, stated that at 8 o'clock tonight an inter-club shoot will be held at the club's Cathedral range. He did not report the opposing club's name but added that arrangements are under way for meets with Youngstown, Pittsburgh and Oil City clubs. Secretary Charles H. Schweinsberg is booking shoots.

In last week's shoots, Dr. A. L. Hoffmaster and William Butler captured the handicap matches. The club will start a new school in basic instruction. Persons who are about to enter military service will discover the rifle and revolver courses are valuable.

Norris Is Leading Conference Scorer

CHICAGO, Jan. 16.—(INS)—Max Norris, V-12 naval trainee at Northwestern university, was out in front among Western Conference basketball players today with a total of 36 points for three games.

This surpassed by 10 points the 46 achieved by Michigan's Bob Geahan in four games and the average of 18.7 points a game was almost 3 points ahead of the 16-point mark of Illinois Junior Kirk in two games, and Indiana's Gene Farris in one game.

Based on total points, Arnold Risen, Ohio State's towering center, was third, with 46 in three games, but his average of 13.3 was exceeded by Clayton Wilkinson of Iowa whose average was 15.5. Wilkinson, however, had played in only two games and his point total was 31.

Mrs. Alfretha Johnson, Principal Clears Up Prevailing Impression In 21

REVISED LEAGUE STANDING FOLLOWS

Mrs. Alfretha Johnson, principal of Princeton High school today cleared up an impression that had become confusing here in Lawrence county among Section 21 members of the W. P. I. A. L.

"Emphatically Princeton High is not a member of the league and therefore cannot participate in the W.P.I.A.L. Section 21 standing," Mrs. Johnson stated today.

"Princeton High is too small a school and has too weak a team to take part in the league against the kind of competition that is in the Section 21 circuit, of Class B teams. Standing Revised "Princeton years ago had a franchise in the W.P.I.A.L. but wisely dropped it," said Mrs. Johnson.

Therefore all the teams that have defeated or been defeated by Princeton cannot count them in the league and today The News is running a revised up to the minute standing on Section 21, as of Monday, January 15.

Vermin Killing Game—Roberts

Deputy Fish And Game Protector Believes Time Ripe For Fox Hunt

Dick Roberts, deputy fish and game protector, today reported vermin is killing wild life in Lawrence county.

He reported that he witnessed in a rural section yesterday the carcasses of several muskrats.

There is no bounty on red fox. However, there is a bounty on gray fox, he asserted.

Recently the Greenville Sportsmen's club offered a bounty on fox which is characterized as vermin.

Roberts asserted he believes the time propitious for a fox hunt. With heavy snow blanketing the rural sections it may be arranged, he intimated.

Titans To Play Slippery Rock

Westminster High Scoring Aggregation To Meet Teachers On Home Floor Tonight

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Jan. 16.—Westminster college's Towering Titans on their way to establishing a new scoring record, travel to Slippery Rock tonight to meet the Slippery Rock State Teachers quintet in a return engagement.

In the first meeting between the schools this season the Titans opened their 1944-45 card with a rousing 75-33 triumph over the Rockets.

Westminster's record now stands at seven wins in nine starts while Slippery Rock has beaten only two teams, Butler Y and Fairmont. Tonight's game should be a breather for the locals who face a tough test Saturday night, meeting undefeated Pitt in a top-notch attraction on the neutral Farrell high school floor.

In their high-scoring spree this season, the Blue and White cagers have scored at least 71 points in all but two of their nine contests. The Titans have averaged 70.5 points per game to their opponents' 59.5.

BY FRANK BECK

While the large-mouth bass should be blamed for the indifference of most through-the-fishermen to the bluegill. How come? Well, the bass is the leading representative of the sunfish family, of which the common bluegill is another outstanding member. The bass is notorious among ice fishermen as a winter hibernator.

In Semi-Coma

While he probably doesn't actually sleep through the cold months as does the bear, for instance, he does loiter in the depths in a semi-coma, heedless of any morsels the angler may throw to him. So perhaps it's taken for granted that his little brother is likewise a poor winter prospect, and chances of hooking him are passed up for the more voracious croppie, perch, northern pike and scions of a few other species.

Become Sluggish

Icthyologists tell us that bluegills do tend to become sluggish as winter advances, but that they don't become inactive nearly as early as does the bass. They continue to move around on the prowl for food a long time after ice sheaths our lakes and streams. During recent seasons more and more anglers have taken advantage of this characteristic and have succeeded in landing some enviable catches that they'd hardly have believed possible some years ago.

Bait That Appeals

The foresighted fisherman provides himself with a supply of earthworms in the fall before the freezeup, for after all garden hackles is tops in the list of a long line of bluegill baits. However, the species isn't very hard to please. Pieces of mussel, or freshwater clam, a white mussel, or freshwater clam, and various nymphs and larvae of aquatic insects appeal to most kinds of sunnies. In Michigan and parts of Ohio and some other states larvae of the mayfly are often successfully employed.

They are obtained by screening detritus from the bottom along the shore line of lakes. Misdirected legislation curtails winter fishing for bluegills in some states.

The closed season is coincidental with that for bass—a needless precaution, since bass can't be caught by hook and line through the ice, anyway.

Believe Coast Welterweight Who Defeated Frankie Terry Is Man Of Hour

JIM DOYLE CAN PUNCH AND BOX

By LAWTON CARVER (International News Service Staff Editor)

NEW YORK, Jan. 16.—The promoters who have been looking with such evident despair for a feasible opponent for the uncrowned welterweight king, Sugar Ray Robinson of Harlem, and hereby notified that they've got one—Jimmy Doyle of Los Angeles.

Doyle is the only welterweight now in action who could be billed as a proper opponent for the lanky and highly accurate Robinson, and it is our considered opinion that when they meet, the winner will be Doyle. He's that good. We'd like to see him in one more fight, against an opponent of higher calibre than Frankie Terry of New York, but on the strength of what Doyle did against Terry Friday night at Madison Square Garden, Doyle, it would appear, has shown enough.

Doyle Can Punch

It really was not what Doyle did against Terry; it's what he did to him. Jimmy whacked Terry on the mouth in the second and drew blood. He bloodied Frankie's nose in the fourth and slashed the New Yorker's right eye in the fifth and kept all three bleeding heavily from there in. It was a gory and somewhat revolting masterpiece, and was accomplished against a tough, rugged club fighter with a knockout punch who outweighed his opponent by 14 pounds.

Working on the theory that something can defeat Ray, we must accept the opinion that a boxer, and superb one, is needed to do it. Robinson is one of the best natural boxers of our modern era, if not the best.

Doyle Clever Boxer

He cannot be outpunched by a heavily-muscled moron, because he never would allow such an oaf to reach him. The only fighter who could stand up to Robinson is the one who stands a chance, even a remote one, of outsmarting him.

Doyle is the cleverest welterweight to come into the garden, with the possible exception of Robinson, in a good many years. He studied, they say under the great ex-heavyweight champion, Jack Johnson, and he looks it. Jimmy is a stand-up fighter, one of those favorite brand boxes with his gloves straight in, instead of clenched, so as to pick blows off in mid-air, and who can slip, feint, counter-punch and jab like a demon. Try to tie him up and he'll break your arm. Most important of all, Doyle goes ten fast rounds, with never a let-up, and he times himself magnificently.

This is out-on-the-limb stuff when we say Doyle can lick Robinson, but, well, you wait and see . . .

Like To Hunt? Help Feed Game.

Frank Coen, Game Protector Of Lawrence County, Says Game Is Suffering

Persons who like to hunt should help to save wild life in Lawrence county, Game Protector Frank Coen stated today.

"There is no questioning that heavy snows have made it impossible for some wild life to obtain food. However, any person who desires to place feed to save muskrats and other wild life can do so by communicating with me. There is food available if it can be got to rural sections," he said.

Owen Fox, city forester and also a disciple of fishing and hunting, has also requested people to place feed in such a way that it can be reached. "Build a shelter in a back yard or any place for the birds, feed them and you'll hear some music that only Mother Nature can provide," he stated today.

Great Lakes Five Wins 16th In Row

GREAT LAKES, Ill., Jan. 16.—(INS)—The Bluejackets of the Great Lakes Naval Training Center retained their unbroken string of basketball victories today after defeating the previously unbeaten Bowling Green State university of Ohio, 80 to 57.

It was the 16th straight win for the Bluejackets and their 17th in 19 games. The Falcons, before they ran up against the Great Lakes outfit, had won 11 straight games.

Propose Banning Of Floor Trading In Stock Markets

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 16.—(INS)—The Securities and Exchange Commission invited comment today on a proposal banning floor trading in the New York Stock Exchange and the New York Curb Market for the duration and the transitory period following the war.

The commission's trading and exchange division made the recommendation, emphasizing that the main interest is to curb erratic market fluctuations when the war is over and the nation is converting its wartime industries to peaceful pursuits.

"In such a period," the division's report stated, "floor trading is likely to have its maximum effect upon prices, for such trading thrives on instability and breeds instability in turn."

"During the transition from war to peace, floor trading should not be permitted to contribute to the stability of stock prices lest those unstable prices and one more obstacle to the orderly functioning of our economy."

The commission asked the two New York exchanges and other interested groups to submit their comment on the proposed rule before Jan. 27.

Of Worst Epidemics
Last Year

The 1945 fund-raising appeal of The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis in celebration of the President's birthday was opened officially throughout the nation Monday night by Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation.

The appeal will continue through January 31 and is the twelfth annual campaign in the war against infantile paralysis. Campaign Director C. M. England said in announcing plans for participation, "Last year," Mr. England said, "America sustained the second worst epidemic of infantile paralysis ever to hit the nation in the history of the disease. More than 18,000 people were stricken and many of 1944's victims will require medical care and treatment for a long period of time.

"We do not know what is in store for this country or any other country of the nation in 1945. But it is up to all of us who value the health and welfare of America's children to prepare now for any eventuality," Mr. England added.

"There were six cases of polio reported in the county last year. Four of these were treated with funds from the local chapter.

"Preparations have been made to give New Castle residents the opportunity to make their donations. A group of men, under the direction of the Kiwanis child welfare committee, has distributed coin collection boxes to the stores throughout the city. A booth has been located on Washington street where donations may be made, and local theaters are also providing the opportunity for patrons to join the March of Dimes."

American Losses In Breakthrough Are Announced

Secretary Stimson Says Casualties
On Ardennes Front Slightly
Under 40,000

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16.—(INS)—
Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson announced late Monday that American losses on the Ardennes front Dec. 15 to Jan. 7, the peak of the German breakthrough, were slightly under 40,000.

Of this number approximately 18,000 are reported missing, the majority of whom are presumed to be prisoners of war.

Stimson added that the war department has "definite information that approximately 40,000 Germans have been captured while German casualties in killed and wounded are estimated at about 50,000 making a total of 90,000.

For the entire American front
(First, Third, Seventh and Ninth armies) for the same period, Stimson said, the casualties total 4,083 killed, 27,645 wounded and 20,866
missing making a total of 52,594.

He said he had no estimate on the German losses on the front of the Ninth and Seventh armies.
Stimson emphasized that all these figures are preliminary and it will be sometime before an accurate accounting can be made.

Local Flyer Learns How To Handle Foe Before Meeting Him

Learning more than just the operation of his radio and the management of his gun, Sgt. Francis
V. Ippolito and other flyers going overseas for the first time, are now receiving the benefit of the flying experience of veterans in the European theater of operations, according to the War Department.

Now in England, this Wampum flyer is undergoing a pre-combat training period of ten days with the 452 bombardment group. Already highly trained, Sgt. Ippolito is now learning how to conduct himself if he becomes a prisoner of war, how to administer first aid to wounded comrades at high altitudes, and how to cope with the latest developments in enemy tactics.

Sgt. Ippolito is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Ippolito of Wampum, and the husband of Mary K.
Ippolito, also of Wampum.

BRIEF NEWS OVER STATE

NORRISTOWN — What do GIs
on the far-fung battle fronts request most from home? You guessed it—cigarettes. Postal clerks say they stamp more letters asking for fags than any other item.

PHOENIXVILLE — There was no ice at the Valley Forge General Hospital, but that didn't stop 25 members of the cast of the Ice Follies of 1945 from putting on a show for 450 GIs. Skaters entertained the veterans with tap and acrobatic dancing.

EPHRATA — Credit this one to the Office of Price Administration.
A man attending a meeting of price panel assistants found he was in the wrong session but discovered he would like to do the work outlined by the speaker, so he signed up as a volunteer.

The city of Nice, in Asia Minor,
